MIDDLE SCHOOL WALKOUT

About 100 disgruntled Mill Valley Middle School students mass on a sunny knoll for a protest meeting after walking out on their classes. The hilltop gathering yesterday afternoon followed a similar walkout by about 200 Friday. They claim the school administration is using 6th grade informers to spy on older students to see if they use drugs or alcohol. Principal Claude A. Offenbacher said the charge is "100 per cent false."

Buckley Calls On President To Step Down

Says Resignation Best Way To Help Country

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James L. Buckley, R-N.Y., today called for President Nixon to resign because of the Watergate scandal.

"There is one way and one way only by which the crisis can be resolved, and the country pulled out of the Watergate swamp," Buckley said at a news conference.

"I propose an extraordinary act of statesmanship and courage—an act at once noble and heartbreaking; at once serving the greater interests of the nation, the institution of the presidency and the stated goals for which he so successfully campaigned," Buckley said.

"That act is Richard Nixon's own voluntary resignation as president of the United States."

Buckley, who in the past has supported the President but indicated recently some misgivings over Nixon's involvement in Watergate, told of his surprising defection at the same time Nixon was battling for public support in the midst of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

"The character of a regime always reflects and expresses the character of its leader," he said. "It is he who appoints his executive staff. The captain is responsible for his ship, the commander for his army, and Mr. Nixon has explicitly recognized this responsibility."

Buckley said Nixon's resignation would end the impeachment process.

"Congress would be automatically discharged of the Watergate affair, and could devote itself to its legislative business," he said.

He said the new president—one selected by Nixon, Vice President Gerald R. Ford—would be able "to reach out to the people with the restored authority and moral strength that is so essential an ingredient of the presidency."

Buckley said he had made no personal judgment on the question of Nixon's guilt or innocence, and did not see any resignation "as a retreat by him."

"Richard Nixon's resignation now—before any irreversible action takes place in the impeachment process — would be, and should be, a free, positive and magnanimous act on his part," Buckley said.

He said that at present, "the office of the president is in danger of succumbing to the death of a thousand cuts.

"The only way to save it is for the current President to resign, leaving the office free to defend itself with a new incumbent."

HE'S 70 TODAY

Age Costs Judge Sirica His Seat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — He was hailed as "Man of the Year" by one magazine and denounced as one of the worst federal judges in Washington by another.

He drew praise from President Nixon and harsh rebuke from leaders of the American Bar Association.

One year ago he was all but unknown outside Washington judicial and legal circles. Now the Watergate scandal has made him famous.

He is John J. Sirica, and after today he steps down as chief U.S. District Judge of the District of Columbia.

He turns 70 today, and by law Sirica must relinquish the post he has held through the most torrid days of the Watergate scandal.

He will be replaced by Judge George L. Hart Jr., 68. But Sirica will remain a judge and has served notice that he will continue as the overseer of the court actions boiling out of America's worst political scandal.

Around the courthouse Sirica is called a "tough little judge" by admirers, and "Maximum John" by those who know how he shuns minimum sentences.

Son of an Italian immigrant, Sirica earned his way through school greasing cars, selling newspapers, and boxing. He was quite handy with his fists,

Caylor, Fibush Bring Campaigns To Marin

Two last-minute entries in the race for the Republican nomination in the Fifth Congressional District brought their campaigns to Marin yesterday.

Thomas O. Caylor and Anne F. Fibush, both San Franciscans, who filed nomination papers just before the March 8 deadline, are also competing in the GOP primary with Jean Margaret Wall of San Francisco, teacher and attorney, and Sean McCarthy of San Rafael.

The district includes all of Marin, rural Petaluma and roughly the northern half of San Francisco. The longtime incumbent, Republican William S. Mailliard, did not seek reelection, and instead has been appointed ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Caylor, 35, said he is running because he always has had "the hankering to do it, I've got the right background, I'm ready, and I don't want John Burton to be my congressman." Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, is seeking his party's nomination for the seat.

Caylor was born in San Francisco and reared there. He was

Jury: Disaster Planning Lacking

By JEFF GREER

Marin County's disaster planning is good, but not good enough, the Marin County Grand Jury said yesterday.

"Although much progress has been made in designing disaster and emergency plans, a great deal remains to be done before Marin residents can feel sure that the best possible preparations have been made for a sudden disaster," the jury said in an interim report.

The report stresses that the county lacks adequate direction and coordination for the health services department's responsibilities in a disaster; there is no adequate command center for the officials who must guide disaster operations; there is no adequate understudy for Frank E. Kirby, emergency services coordinator; the county lacks a public information officer to work with the media to "prevent wild rumors and sustain public morale" in an emergency, and there is too much reliance on telephone systems that could fail in an eathquake or other disaster.

Betty L. Presley, director of the county Health and Human Resources Department, said today she has not yet seen the grand jury report. She took over the health supervision last summer from Dr. Donovan O. Cooke.

She has reported the department as lacking organization, direction and purpose at that time.

She said she subsequently learned that Richard Bettini of the health department originally had responsibility for emergency service planning in the health and medical fields, but that another official in the department had ordered Bettini to drop the task last May.

She said she has recommended to the county board of supervisors that the lack be remedied, in a letter the board was to discuss today.

The grand jury's report reviews emergency medical participation in the county's disaster training exercises last May and December:

"The medical teams proved technically adept (in May) but they lacked official coordination and direction." In December, the report said, "the health services department demonstrated that it is not yet ready to cope with the problems of disaster. The representatives of this department did not respond with constructive solutions to the medical problems posed by the exercise, such as moving the injured or dealing with polluted water."

$20,000 Harbor Boat Grant To San Rafael

The state Department of Navigation and Ocean Development and the U.S. Coast Guard have approved a $20,000 grant sought by the San Rafael Police Department for a new harbor patrol boat, a department spokesman said yesterday.

The grant is conditioned on city approval of a five-year contract requiring the city to operate the vessel an average of 20 hours weekly, according to Sgt. Gerald Souza.

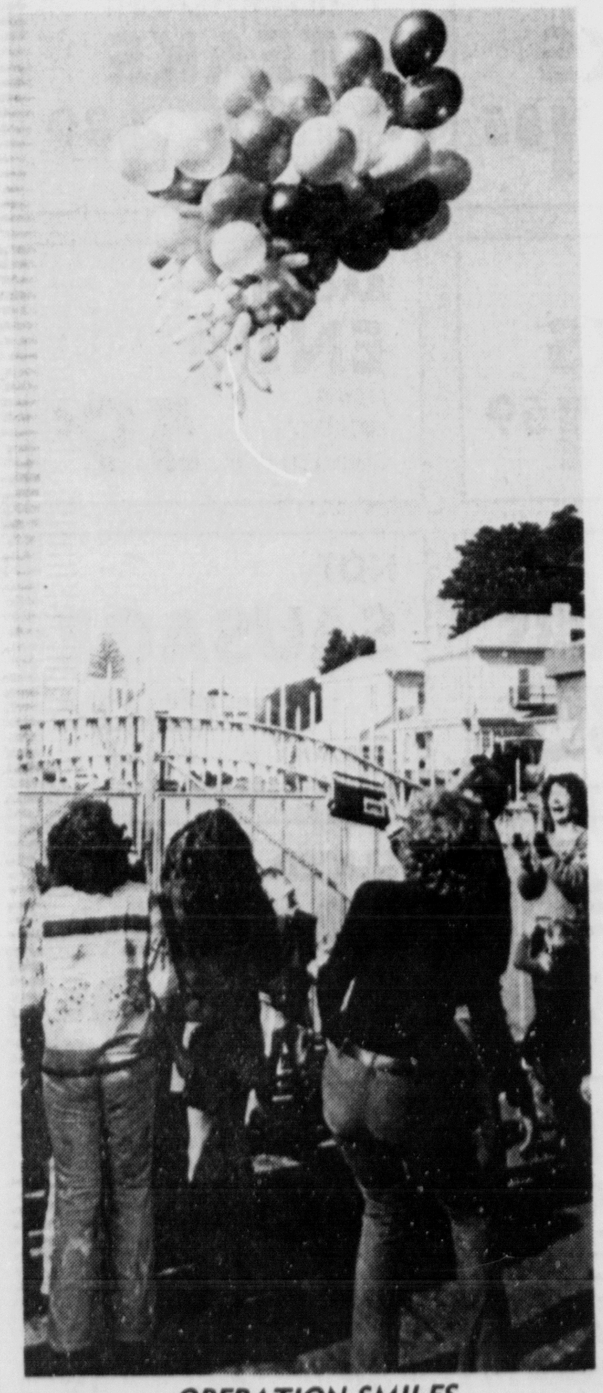

The city administration, currently studying the contract, will forward a recommendation to the city council next month, according to City Mgr. William J. Bielser.

Souza said the department applied for funds last year since the city's present harbor patrol boat, an 18-foot power craft, is inadequate for service outside the protected and tranquil waters of the San Rafael Canal.

Souza added that the city has no waterborne firefighting capability, despite the mass of apartments adjacent to the Canal. The new boat, he said, is envisioned as a craft rigged with firefighting equipment, for joint use by city safety personnel.

The Marin Yacht Club has offered a berth for the new boat, should the city approve the contract, but no decision has been made on where it will be stationed, according to the city administration.

The current patrol boat, manned by harbor patrolman Harold Thomson, is berthed at Loch Lomond, he said.

OPERATION SMILES

A bevy of colorful baloons soars aloft near San Quentin's main gate today, the offering of a group of Lagunitas School students who hoped to bring a moment of joy to the men behind the walls. "We did it just so everyone could smile," said Marilyn Marioni, Lagunitas School District trustee who organized the event. "It's entirely nonpolitical," she added.

Doors Locked On Housing Meeting

Several Marin City community leaders, including a member of the county housing authority board, protested today that they were barred from a meeting last night to discuss relocation of public housing tenants during modernization of 102 high-rise apartments in Marin City.

The meeting, according to housing authority executive director Wallace K. Shepherd, was to organize a nine-member tenants committee to advise the authority on modernization problems.

Among those denied entrance to the session by Shepherd were Rogers Jones, a member of the housing authority board, public housing tenant and longtime foe of authority policy; Frank Phillips Sr., a public housing tenant and chairman of the Marin City Council, and Warren Alexander, also a public housing tenant and head of the Marin City Tenants Representation Association, formerly the Marin County Public Housing Tenants Association.

Alexander charged that the meeting was illegal and that it was called to program tenants sympathetic to the housing authority to support the authority's position on relocation of tenants, hiring Marin City residents for modernization work and other matters.

Shepherd said today the unannounced meeting was not a public session. Rather, he said, it was a meeting between housing authority staff and some tenants who have agreed to relocate during modernization.

"Mr. Phillips and Mr. Jones have refused to move from their apartments," Shepherd said. "What good would it do to have them sit in on the meeting?" Selected tenants had

Supervisors Exclude Probation Department From Health Agency

Marin County supervisors today rescinded last year's decision to include the probation department in the consolidated health and human services agency.

The board's action, on a unanimous vote, was recommended by agency director Betty L. Presley and County Administrator John F. Barrows. Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer concurred.

The move to include probation within the agency drew strong protests last year from county judges who argued that the department's field of interest is more closely aligned with the various criminal justice departments.

Three relatively minor child custody programs, currently operated by probation, will be studied for possible inclusion in Miss Presley's agency, which now includes health, mental health and welfare.

In a related action, supervisors postponed discussion on whether mental health should also be severed from the consolidated agency.

Several members of the near capacity audience urged the matter be deferred pending further study and the results of a state audit on the administration of mental health programs and funds.

That audit, requested by Miss Presley last December after hospital care for mental patients nearly folded in Marin, is expected from the state this week.

According to Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini, the audit will make recommendations on the organizational structure of the mental health division and those recommendations may prove vital in deciding whether it should remain under Miss Presley.

Supervisors Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Arnold M. Baptiste, who predicted heavy lobbying as a result of the board's postponement of the matter, indicated they support keeping mental halth under Miss Presley's wing.

Baptiste said he was "firmly behind" Miss Presley's efforts to concentrate mental health services on the severely handicapped and to deemphasize other existing programs. She said this has prompted differences with Dr. Robert Taylor, program chief for mental health.

A recommendation from Barrows that a management study of the probation department was held over pending the outcome of a grand jury study.

Brewer said he welcomes the recommended management study.

Lincoln Blacked Out As Auto Hits Cable Support

A high-voltage overhead utility wire that snapped on Lincoln Avenue after an unidentified auto hit a steel support cable, blacked out hundreds of homes in San Rafael at 11:11 p.m. last night.

Robert H. Williams, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical superintendent, said power for 1,835 customers in the city was cut last night.

Power was restored for 1,521 customers at 11:44 p.m., and for 310 more at 11:56 p.m. Four customers were blacked out until 6:55 a.m. today, he said.

The outage affected a widespread area embracing Lincoln Avenue and portions of downtown San Rafael, including city hall.

The San Rafael City Council continued a meeting for about 20 minutes in the darkness, aided by two flashlights and two lanterns provided by city police.

BICYCLING FIREMAN

In an effort to conserve gasoline, Cincinnati fireman Joe Roedig now pedals a bicycle with an equipment basket as he makes a check of fire hydrants in his district. The men in Roedig's company chipped in to buy the bike as an experiment and the suggestion that bicycles replace cars formerly used for the work will be acted upon soon by the city council. Alioto's Mediation Effort Turned Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The board of education today rejected two offers to settle the teacher's strike as more than half the district's teachers reported for work.

Mayor Joseph Alioto, saying "the strike deeply bothers me," presented a compromise package and offered to mediate the dispute, now entering its 12th day.

School board president Eugene Hopp said the board unanimously rejected Alioto's offer to mediate.

"We recognize his sincerity, but our legal advisers have told us that we should negotiate directly with the Certificated Employes Council and that's what we intend to do," Hopp said.

The board also demanded that the Certificated Employees Council represent the teachers at any talks.

With almost 65 per cent of the teachers reporting for work, the union agreed yesterday to participate in broader negotiations.

The board's new offer added $20,000 to the $4.6 million proposal presented early Monday. The added money would give teachers in the city's child care centers more vacation and sick leave.

The $4.6 million offer represents a flat 6 per cent increase, but the union is demanding 15 per cent.

Deliberations were interrupted yesterday as more than 100 pickets marched into the district's central offices chanting "On strike, shut it down."

Shortly thereafter, Hopp called a press conference to detail the fringe benefits and pay teachers already receive.

Mayor Alioto said at a later press conference he has told the school board it is their job to keep the schools open.

"There should be no pay or sick leave for striking workers," Alioto said. "To do so would decrease the bargaining power of the board and the administration."

Golan Heights Scene Of New Skirmishes

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Israeli and Syrian gunners opened up on the Golan Heights at dawn today in a three-hour artillery duel that wounded two United Nations truce observers and brought an Israeli civilian settlement under cannon attack.

It was the eighth consecutive day of artillery and tank exchanges along the salient which Israeli forces pushed toward Damascus in the October war. Each side blamed the other. The U.N. casulaties were the first in the current round of fighting.

Israel said Syrian gunners opened artillery and tank fire at dawn. Syria said Israeli forces fired first. A Syrian military communique reported another 15-minute exchange later in the day.

The two wounded U.N. observers were hospitalized in Damascus. Danish Capt. Flemint Nilson, 33, told visiting Arab newsmen his observation truck was hit by artillery fire and thanked Syrian military anthorities for the "prompt and quick medical treatement I received."

Medical officers at the Italian hospital said Nilson suffered a "slight wound" in the right side, but that Finnish Maj. Ato Koivula, 40, received "serious wounds in the body".

A Syrian communique said a Syrian liaison officer was wounded in the shelling. The Israeli command reported two Israeli soldiers were also wounded, bringing the Israeli casualty toll to two dead and five wounded within two days.

An Israeli military spokesman said the Syrians fired between 150 to 200 shells into the Israeli enclave.

Syrian shells arched west across the 1967 cease-fire line and slammed into the kibbutz (collective settlement) of Ein Zivan a mile southwest of Kuneitra, a military source said. It marked the first shelling of a civilian settlement since Feb. 15.

Israeli settlers living on the heights scrambled for their underground concrete shelters and the command said all the two-lane asphalt roads in the area were closed to civilian traffic.

Zvika Allon, 24, reached at Ein Zivan by telephone, said the settlers had been in their shelters since shortly after dawn but had emerged when the shelling stopped to eat lunch in the communal dining room.

"We were in our shelters earlier in the day and, of course, we heard the shooting," he said. "Now our people are eating, but we don't know whether they will go to work today because of the situation. Normally, they work until 4 p.m."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bank Terrorists

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — A Stockholm court today sentenced two convicts who held four bank employes hostages in a downtown bank last August to 10 and 6 ½-year prison terms.

A court spokesman said Jan-Erik Olsson, 32, received a minimum 10 year sentence, and Clark Olofsson, 26, at least six years and six months internment.

Olsson and Olofsson held four bank employes hostages in a locked bank vault for six days last August before surrendering after a gas attack by besieging police.

Alert Canceled

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal's nationwide military alert, called because of an attempted military rebellion Saturday, was canceled today, an official spokesman said.

About 20,000 troops were ordered confined to barracks on full alert Saturday when some 33 officers leading 180 troops drove in convoy to the outskirts of Lisbon from the garrison at Caldas da Rainha, 70 miles from the capital, in support of a dismissed general.

Student Shot

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The state-owned All India radio said today Indian army troops and police opened fire on rampaging students in remote Bihar state yesterday, killing six and wounding 60 others.

Army troops with orders to shoot on sight were deployed throughout the state capital at Patna, 626 miles east of New Delhi, as an estimated 10,000 students rampaged through the streets protesting alleged official corruption, skyrocketing prices and mounting unemployment.

Extremist Group

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British army officers said today they have uncovered traces of a secret Protestant extremist organization named "For Ulster" in the ranks of the government-armed militia. They said it has carried out vengeance killings of Roman Catholics.

The officers said the extremist group was made up of members of the Ulster Defense Regiment (UDR), a militia force, and members of the special investigation branch of the police.

Smog Abates

MIAMI (UPI) — Easterly winds have pushed a pungent smog created by burning sawgrass and muck back into the Everglades bringing relief today to South Florida residents, particularly the elderly, who suffered shortness of breath, coughing and watery eyes.

A spokesman for South Shore hospital in the heart of South Miami Beach's so-called "social security" ghetto reported at least 11 elderly persons were given oxygen over a 24- hour period ending at midday yesterday because of the smoke.

None appeared in serious condition.

Canner Controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a move to increase supplies of canned goods on the nation's grocery shelves, the Cost of Living Council yesterday lifted wage-price regulations from most of the canning industry.

James W. McLane, deputy director of the CLC, said controls were removed from all vegetable and fruit canners except those who process jams, jellies, marmalade and preserves.

Charles J. Carey, president of the National Canners Association, hailed the action as "an essential first step in reversing the declining availability of canned goods."

Ranger Trapped

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese military sources said today 78 government Rangers fought their way through Communist lines to safety, but more than 300 others are still trapped in the rugged Central Highlands. Half of the force was reported wounded or dead.

The South Vietnamese Command has officially denied the Rangers have been cut off, but military sources said the men were surrounded over the weekend in some of the heaviest fighting since the Vietnam cease-fire began 14 months ago.

Major Setback

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops have surrounded a 1,200-man government force trying to retreat from the captured provincial capital of Oudong and are pounding the outnumbered soldiers with mortars and small arms, field reporters said today.

The fall of Oudong, a former royal capital of Cambodia 24 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, yesterday was one of the government's worst military setbacks of the war. There were an estimated 2,000 Communists in the ring around the city.

Promise Of All The Oil U.S. Needs

VIENNA (UPI) — Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani said yesterday that the United States will get all the Arab oil it needs.

Speaking after the lifting of the five-month embargo by seven Arab countries, Yamani said:

"We will start to increase our production immediately. The United States will get all the oil it needs—from Saudi Arabia, at least one million barrels a day."

Yamani said it would take about six weeks for the first tankers of Arab oil to reach the United States.

Oil industry sources said that now the ban was lifted, however, oil companies could release their reserves immediately to ease the American fuel squeeze.

Syria and Libya, the two other members of the nine nations which imposed the embargo, said they would continue to deny oil to the United States. Algeria said it was lifting the embargo only provisionally until June 1.

(The Libyan state radio called the lifting of the embargo "treason" while fighting was still going on between Syria and Israel.)

Kidnaped Wife Of Banker Safe

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — The wife of a suburban St. Paul banker was in seclusion with her husband today while the FBI searched for the kidnapers who collected $200,000 ransom for her release.

Mrs. Eunice Kronholm, 46, a plaid scarf on her blonde hair and a blanket pulled around her clothes, walked calmly into a Burnsville supermarket yesterday evening and then broke down in tears while making a telephone call. The call to her family ended four days of anxiety and confusion.

The woman disappeared Friday morning from her home in Lino Lakes, 25 miles away, apparently while on her way to an appointment at a beauty shop.

Joseph Trimbach, FBI special agent in charge, said in Minneapolis that agents were searching for "all those responsible."

Trimbach declined to specify the number involved or if the ransom was recovered. One suspect already was in custody.

James William Johnson, 27, was arrested at his Lakeville home several hours before Mrs. Kronholm was released. Johnson was to appear later today for arraignment before a U.S. magistrate in Minneapolis on federal extortion charges.

Mrs. Kronholm's husband, Gunnar, 60, and an FBI agent were believed to have picked up Mrs. Kronholm at the supermarket.

Kronholm earlier Monday had dropped the ransom off as demanded. He was reportedly told to go to four locations for instructions, but it was unknown just where the pickup occurred.

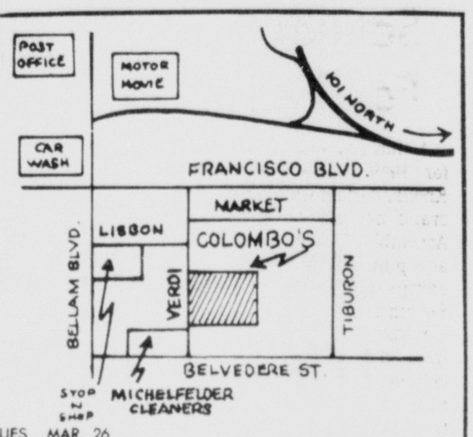

The Kronholms remained at an undisclosed location today and a family member said both were "exhausted—they need time to be together."

Mrs. Kronholm and her husband, president of the Drovers State Bank in South St. Paul, were tentatively scheduled to hold a news conference tomorrow.

Reino Heikkila, supermarket manager, said Mrs. Kronholm "broke down and cried" as she was talking on the telephone in his office. Heikkila said, "I went and got her a cup of coffee. She looked as if she needed it."

"I thought she might of had car trouble," Heikkila said. "When I asked her if she had, she replied that it was 'something like that.' "

DIFFERENT KIND OF CHOPPER

A factory representative stands beside a highly modified OH-6A helicopter fuselage shown yesterday in Los Angeles by the Garrett Corp., designer of the machine, which uses a ducted fan propulsion system. Vertical lift is accomplished by diverting fan air downward through ducts on each side of the vehicle. By moving vanes located at the duct exits rearward, thrust is provided for forward motion. Moving the vanes forward provides braking action.

Teacher Layoff Discussions Set

Five special meetings were set last night by the Tamalpais High School District trustees to tackle the handling of possible cuts in staff and programs because of a projected $600,000 budget deficit.

The meetings will be held at Redwood High School at 8 p.m. March 25, April 8, April 22, April 29 and May 6.

Last week, 36 teachers were notified they may not be rehired next fall. The mailing of these notices, said Supt. Robert D. Torrey, was necessary in case the board decides dismissal is the only cure for the deficit. Definite notice must be given these teachers by May 15.

Torrey said there is a "high likelihood that not all 36 could in fact be dismissed." He called it an extremely difficult value choice to be faced with and said it can be faced better at special meetings devoted to the problem.

"The department can't wait around to find out if this district is going to rehire," argued Robert Bachelder, chairman of the math department at Redwood High School, which could lose three teachers. "You're going to have to reinstate soon if you want to keep the quality of the department up," he said.

"Concrete damage is done day by day, week by week," warned Redwood math teacher Steve Baker, complaining that trustees were not giving teachers enough time to apply for other jobs.

"It tears me to hear about the reduction of quality in department programs" said Torrey . . . but "we're facing a deficit. We need to confront these facts."

Frank Gold, president of the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, said the board's decision to trim was necessary but added that the "board overreacted by sending letters to 10 per cent of the staff." Gold also said the 16 programs pinpointed for trimming were "inconsistent to the needs of the kids."

Any cuts should be made first in nonclassroom areas, then in those indirectly affecting the classroom and finally in the classroom, he said, adding that all decisions should be subject to negotiation between the board and the staff.

In a related decision, trustee Lotte Schiller rejected a chance to attend an education association conference in Houston next month because of the cost to the district.

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has contracted to buy a large chemical fiber plant for $16.7 million from Japan's Tijin Co., the firm announced today.

Tamalpais Teachers Ask Big Salary Hike

Tamalpais High School District teachers want pay raises of more than 20 per cent, two district teachers associations told the district board last night.

Ted Redenius, president of the Tamalpais District Teachers Association, said his members are asking for a 22 per cent cost of living salary increase.

This, he said, includes a 9.4 per cent increase reflecting the increase in the cost of living through the fall of this year, an additional 3.3 per cent increase to make up income lost through cost of living hikes over the last two years, an additional 3 per cent increase as a share of the gross national product, and an additional 6.3 per cent increase to cover fringe benefits, service equalization and adjustments in the hourly rate schedule.

A complete package for negotiation will be presented at the April 3 meeting of the Certificated Employees Council.

A 20 per cent "cost-of-living increase" was outlined by Frank Gold, president of the Tamalpais Federation of Teachers, to "make up for lost real income in the past five years." In July of this year, he said, "we will be a full 15 per cent behind where we were five years ago" because of the continued rise in the cost of living.

Gold also said the negotiations would include an early retirement incentive program for teachers 52-60 years of age. The program would include salary increases over a three-year period before retirement. Early retirement, said Gold, would in the long run save the district money.

Gold said May 15 has been set as the goal for negotiations.

The Tamalpais High School District trustees also:

HIRING — Scheduled a progress report for the April 1 meeting from the district Affirmative Action Committee on how to insure hiring of more women and minority members in the district.

CHILD CENTER — Postponed until April 1 a decision on the Redwood High School child development center until further information on the $1,875 room improvement costs and the hiring of an administrator is given to the trustees.

MEETING — Met in closed session to consider dismissal of a district employee but took no action.

Morse To Make Another Try For The Senate

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Wayne Morse, the man they called "the tiger of the Senate," is ready to make another comeback.

At age 73, he filed yesterday for the seat he lost to Bob Packwood, a Republican, six years ago. He also tried two years ago but lost in his effort to unseat Mark Hatfield, also a Republican.

Morse said he had decided to try again because of "the many urgings of the past 60 days from Democrats and Republicans." Morse served in the Senate as a Republican, then went independent before declaring himself a Democrat.

The former 24-year veteran of the Senate said he has a reasonable amount of pledges to support him financially in his race.

Madera Del Presidio May Face New Delay

The long-delayed Madera del Presidio subdivision in Corte Madera last night appeared to face yet another obstacle as the town council considered withdrawing an original use permit.

The town council unanimously voted to ask the town planning commission to hold public hearings to determine if the permit for a planned unit development should be revoked in light of the preparation of a new general plan for the town.

The original Madera del Presidio plans were approved in 1972 but were halted by a citizens' suit a year ago. The developer, Cal West Communities Inc., then resubmitted plans for the first phase of the development and later produced plans for a smaller project.

But following the recall last September of three councilmen who supported the project, all plans were either rejected by the council or withdrawn by the developer.

Last week a representative of the firm told town officials he wanted to get out of the courts and return to discussions with local people in an effort to shape a project the town can accept.

He said that limiting the project, however, to single-family homes would eliminate housing for persons of moderate income and would eat up open space.

There has been vigorous opposition from some Corte Madera residents to proposals for condominium units.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

ELEMENT — Adopted the open space and conservation element of the proposed new Corte Madera General Plan as proposed by the planning commission.

ORDINANCE — Introduced an ordinance which provides regulations and guidelines for planned development district zoning.

CLEANUP — Set the week of April 15 as the semiannual cleanup week when there will be free curbside pickup of trash.

BICYCLES — Voted to ask the state Division of Highways to install a proposed bicycle crossing over Highway 101 from Paradise Drive to Casa Buena Drive at the section closest to Casa Buena Drive.

DOGS — Heard complaints of dogs roaming in the Corte Madera Town Park but took no action on a proposed leash law.

Gas Appeal Is Made By Chamber

Federal and state energy officials were urged yesterday by Petaluma Chamber of Commerce directors to allocate on a "realistic basis" enough gasoline to prevent economic reverses in Southern Sonoma.

In a resolution directed to "all parties concerned," the directors said they believe Southern and Central Sonoma have less gasoline than the northern part of the county.

The directors said local service stations are experiencing "serious economic problems, closing of stations, reduction of payrolls and loss of jobs because of the allocation figures."

Also affected, they said, are recreation and farm-related businesses.

The Federal Energy Office, according to the directors, "has failed to take into account Sonoma's rapid increase in residents and recreation traffic since 1972," the year on which present allocations are based.

A Second Arrest In Petaluma

A second man was arrested by Petaluma police yesterday in connection with the Sunday morning burglary of the Mortenson Hatchery at 620 Baker Street.

Robert Lilliburn Nelson Jr., 19, of 625 F Street, was arrested on suspicion of burglary at 11:15 a.m., police said, when he arrived at the hatchery seeking payment for roofing work he did there last week.

Police said his truck was recognized as one used in the burglary.

Another man, Aubrey Alan Muir, 38, of 415 Upham Street, was arrested at the hatchery Sunday while reportedly removing two safes from the building. Police said a second man fled.

Nelson was also held on suspicion of marijuana possession because police said he had five grams of the drug in his pocket when arrested.

Nelson was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bail pending arraignment today before Municipal Court Judge Alexander J. McMahon. Muir, released yesterday on $3,000 bail, also was to appear in court today.

Prince Helps Open The Wine

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The waitress in the Olde English style restaurant was obviously having trouble getting the cork out of a wine bottle for a party of seven British navy officers, when one of the younger members of the group rose to give her a hand.

"They don't make serving wenches like they used to," deadpanned his royal highness, the Prince of Wales.

Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, spent most of the weekend golfing at the desert estate of Walter Annenberg, U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain, before returning yesterday to the HMS Jupiter, a Royal Navy frigate. The Jupiter arrived last Thursday for a week of training exercises with the U.S. Navy. The prince, a lieutenant, is the Jupiter's navigation officer.

Cal Poly Sets Concert In Marin

Singers and musicians from California Polytechnic State University will present a free concert of sacred and secular music March 27 at 8 p.m. at Mission San Rafael.

The university's 50-voice choir and chamber orchestra will perform works by Brahms, J.S. Bach, Tallis, Vivaldi and Kreutz. One of the highlight's of the performance will be a complete Latin Mass, Missa Secunda, by Hans Leo Hassler.

HOUSING

been contacted by telephone and asked to attend, according to the executive directors.

Also banned from the meeting, held at housing authority offices in Marin City, were Nesbit Crutchfield and Hazel Curry, both members of the Marin City Council, composed of residents of public housing.

"We are very disappointed," Mrs. Curry said. "We tried very hard to get in. The best thing to do was leave, which we did. We didn't want to cause any trouble."

Some tenants have protested authority plans to move residents during modernization work, expected to begin April 1, and have demanded that they be given their original apartments back if they are forced to relocate. They also want a definite plan for hiring Marin City persons for modernization jobs.

"Those people who wish to move back to their apartments will be allowed to move back," Shepherd said. "But if someone is in a four-bedroom apartment and should be in a two-bedroom, then they will be put in a two-bedroom, according to their needs."

The tenants association will meet at 8 p.m. today at Manzanita Center to discuss modernization, eviction procedures and other matters, Alexander said.

A public meeting has been called by the housing authority for 8 p.m. tomorrow at Manzanita Center.

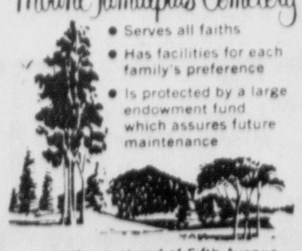

Homeowners Council Will Meet Sunday

The Council of Tiburon Homeowners Associations will meet Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Gerry Thayer residence at 8 Bartel Court in Tiburon.

According to president Donald Batten, issues to be discussed will be the growing number of group residences in the city and the possibility of having homeowner association entries in the city's triple anniversary celebration parade this June.

CONGRESS

graduated in 1960 from Willamette University in Salem, Ore., then went to New York City for four years as a researcher and editor of Janeway Publishing and Research Co. The company issues a syndicated column and private weekly political and financial newsletter.

Explaining he did not want to stay in New York and was itching to see the world, Caylor spent 1965 traveling around Europe. He then returned to San Francisco, and for several months wrote a newspaper column in place of his ailing father.

His late father, Art Caylor, was a columnist for 39 years with the San Francisco News and later the News-Call-Bulletin. The younger Caylor's column was discontinued when the paper merged with the Examiner.

Joining the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce in its urban affairs office, Caylor was manager of its international department and editorial chairman of San Francisco Business magazine when he left the chamber almost eight years later. In this position, he organized trade expeditions to China in 1972 and 1973, spending more than a month in China on each of the two trips.

He has served as vice chairman of the San Francisco Economic Opportunity Council, on the San Francisco School District's committee to integrate schools and on the San Francisco Charter Revision Committee.

Caylor said the critical issue in the November general election will be "whether Marin and San Francisco will be turned over to the Burton brothers." (John Burton's brother, Phillip Burton, already represents the rest of San Francisco in Congress.)

Both he and Burton are conservationists, Caylor said, "but I also am interested in finding solutions to environmental problems that are not punitive to business, labor and taxpayers." He termed Burton "a doctrinaire liberal-radical."

Caylor and his wife, Carla, were married a month ago.

Miss Fibush, 45, is a designer, primarily working with colors, and a consultant in a host of fields — "basically an ideas person," she said.

Also a native of San Francisco, she was reared in Oakland. It was in high school, she said, that she decided "someday I would run for office." It also was in high school, she added, that she found she had "a tremendous empathy for all peoples."

After graduating in 1951 from the University of California at Berkeley, she became an airline stewardess. Saying the flying was "not a career job," Miss Fibush went into her own design and consulting business in 1961.

She has served as a volunteer teacher at Hunter's Point, and on the original advisory council on education of "Prytanean," a women's honor society for service to the University of California that promotes the status of women.

Miss Fibush also has been a leader in citizen pressure to control noise, and is vice chairman of the supervisors' task force on noise abatement and control. The group was appointed a year ago, and has until September to draft an ordinance to control noise.

She said she also was responsible for having the mayor declare "Quiet Week" last October.

Miss Fibush said she has "an ability to solve problems, and if you have this, then you ought to get in there and try to work for the people." Like Caylor, she is making her first run for elective office.

Japanese Loan

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan will grant Indonesia a $136 million loan on easy terms for development of domestic oil fields, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

Post Calls For Firing Of Stokes

SACRAMENTO (AP) — BART general manager B. R. Stokes should be fired before the legislature provides any more funds for the financially strapped transit district, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post said today.

The nonpartisan analyst conceded that it is rare for his office to recommend specific personnel changes in a report to the legislature.

But he said the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's complex financial troubles and the seriousness of those problems require extraordinary action.

In a 48-page report, Post accuses Stokes, a former newsman who joined the district as a public relations officer, of dictating policy to the district board of directors, but failing to command respect of employes.

Ray Is Seeking More Freedom For Case Appeal

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Grinning slightly and swaying back and forth on the witness stand, James Earl Ray wants more freedom inside jail so he can better prepare an appeal against his 99-year sentence for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Appearing before Federal Judge L. Clure Morton to personally answer questions yesterday about his petition for release from "administrative segregation" at the prison, Ray said: "It would be idiotic to escape now when there's a chance for a new trial."

An evidentiary hearing, which could lead to a new trial, was ordered recently by the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals. It will deal with charges that Ray was coerced into pleading guilty by his former attorney, Percy Foreman of Dallas, in exchange for the 99-year sentence.

Traffic Study To Be Outlined

The scope of a major traffic study in Sausalito will be outlined for the city council at 8 p.m. today in the auditorium of Central School, Caledonia at Bee Street.

The traffic study was ordered when councilmen recently slapped a freeze on development on the Sausalito waterfront.

Plans for remodeling Central School, the site of a new city office complex, also will be discussed.

Prior to the public meeting, councilmen will meet in closed session to select a new mayor to replace Robin Sweeny, according to City Mgr. Thomas P. McKenzie.

Miwok Indian Programs Slated

The Novato Prehistory Museum at Miwok Park will present programs on Miwok Indians from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 30 and April 6.

On March 30 curator Teresa Miller will give a lecture and a slide show and Gary Berg will demonstrate how to make obsidian and chert tools.

On April 6 botanist Virginia Hotz will talk about native plants and guide a nature walk along Novato Creek.

The museum, at 2200 Novato Boulevard, is open Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m.

Marinites Win Parade Honors

A Civil Air Patrol color guard from Marin was among the winners in the St. Patrick's Day parade in San Francisco Sunday.

SIRICA

A muscular 5-feet-6, Sirica's thick, wavy hair is only lightly streaked with gray. Sharp eyes peer out from behind bushy brows.

Sirica has an enormous respect for the U.S. system of justice, but frequently is impatient with its strict rules and technicalities. On at least one occasion when a defense lawyer threatened to appeal one of his rulings, Sirica retorted: "I could care less what the Court of Appeals thinks."

Sirica's unusual tactics from the bench during the Watergate trial last year brought him some criticism. Always extra tough when dealing with so-called white collar criminals, Sirica told one Watergate defendant, "I don't believe you," and threatened all seven with maximum prison sentences unless they decided to cooperate with the investigation.

When Washingtonian Magazine assessed District of Columbia judges in 1972, Sirica was ranked in the bottom quarter. Even after Watergate, Washingtonian did not change its judgment when it reassessed the judges last fall.

Civil libertarians have argued that Sirica's tactics deprive a defendant of full legal rights. A past president of the American Bar Association, Chesterfield Smith, has said "We must be concerned about a federal judge—no matter how worthy his motives or how much we may applaud his results—using the criminal sentencing process as a means and tool for further criminal investigation of others."

But the public reaction to Sirica's conduct of the case has been overwhelmingly favorable, and Nixon himself in May cited a "brave federal judge" as one of the factors in bringing out the full story. Sirica has received thousands of letters and telegrams.

His persistent refusal during the Watergate trial to accept things at face value, most observers believe, was responsible for breaking the scandal open. Sirica pronounced provisional sentences and urged the defendants to tell all.

JURY

emergency operations center during the December drill.

The report added that makeshift quarters used as emergency command posts are inadequate in terms of communications, maps and other facilities.

The county is installing new microwave communications equipment over a two-year period to meet one of the shortcomings found by the jury. No firm plans have been made for an emergency operations center, beyond crowding the necessary officials into rooms connected with the communications center in the Marin Civic Center, Marin County Disaster Council members noted today.

As to the jury's suggestion that Kirby needs an understudy, Kirby explained today that the recommended half-time persons could be someone such as Bettini, who already is on the county payroll. The assignment would be eligible for 50 per cent funding by federal emergency programs, Kirby said.

Most of the half-time assistant's time could well be devoted to setting up the necessary direction for health and medical emergency forces, Kirby suggested.

Mariner 10 Sets Picture Sending

PASADENA (UPI) — The Mariner 10 space probe will begin sending back photographs of Mercury on Saturday, scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said today.

Mariner will still be 3.3 million miles from Mercury and closing at 88,000 miles per hour when it begins transmissions after a five month journey of more than 90 million miles.

OBITUARIES

George G. Griffitts Dies At 78

Funeral for George V. Griffitts, former Mill Valley city councilman, will be tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Griffitts, 78, died Sunday at a Berkeley hospital following a brief illness.

A native of California, Griffitts grew up in the Bay Area. He resided in Mill Valley in the Ethel Avenue area for almost 40 years. About 18 months ago he moved to Berkeley.

He was a veteran of World War I and belonged to the Mill Valley American Legion Post No. 284.

Before retiring, he served 40 years as sales manager for Bemis Bag Co. in San Francisco.

From 1938 to 1942 he was a city councilman. He and his late wife, Flo, were charter members of the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Survivors include three daughters, Mary Bryan of Novato, Betty Farchi of Nevada City and Nancy Mason of Los Altos; three sisters, Ethel Mears of Los Angeles, Mildred Moyer of San Francisco and Myrtle Watson of Berkeley; one brother, Irving of Danville, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

ANITA M. CLARY

A Mass of Christian Burial for Anita Maria Clary, 67, a Novato homemaker, was celebrated this morning in Novato.

Mrs. Clary, of 99 San Benito Way, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was the wife of Cecil R. Clary, a retired communications worker at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Mrs. Clary had been a resident of Novato for more than nine years and formerly lived in San Francisco. She was a native of Hawaii.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Carmen June Thorne of Novato; three sons, Cecil Clary Jr. and Robert Lee Clary of San Francisco and William Douglas Clary of Florida and 19 grandchildren.

Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

ALVIN PAYNE

Alvin E. Payne, 68, father of Robert L. Payne of Fairfax, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Payne was born and reared in Ohio but had lived in California since about 1928. For many years he was a ranch foreman in Mendocino County.

He came to Marin to live with his son at the Meadow Club stables on Bolinas Road about six months ago.

In addition to his son in Fairfax, he is survived by his wife, Rita, of Fairfax; another son, William D. Payne of Oregon; a daughter, Mrs. Glenna Steagman of Ohio, and five grandchildren.

Private family funeral was held today in San Rafael. Inurnment was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

WILLIAM G. SCHENDEL

WILLIAM G. SCHENDEL

A Mass of the Christian Burial for William Gerald Schendel of Santa Venetia, owner of a San Rafael variety store, will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow in Blessed Sacrament Church, 160 North San Pedro Road.

Schendel, 56, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack.

He was owner of Rasco's variety store on Fourth Street and a member of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce. He had lived in Marin 17 years.

Schendel is survived by his wife, Sue, of the family home; a son, William G. Schendel Jr. of Novato; two daughters, Jo Ann Burnett of Novato and Caroline Canney of St. Paul, Minn., and six grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today in Keaton's Mortuary. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Memorial contributions to the Heart Fund are preferred.

MICHAEL A. STINNETT

Mass of Christian Burial for Michael Anthony Stinnett of Santa Rosa, a former Cotati resident, will be at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent's Catholic Church in Petaluma.

Stinnett, 23, died Saturday in a San Francisco tavern shooting.

He was a native of St. Louis, Mo., and lived in Cotati seven years. Several months ago he moved to Santa Rosa to become assistant manager of the Thrifty Drug store in the Montgomery Village Shopping Center.

He was a member of the Retail Clerks Union, Local No. 1532 of Santa Rosa.

Survivors include his wife, Marsha Stinnett of Tempe, Ariz.; a daughter, Bridget Stinnett of Tempe; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stinnett of West Covina, and two sisters, Gloria Garrett of Rohnert Park and Jo Ann O'Loughlin of St. Louis.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen Funeral Home. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery in Petaluma.

WILLIAM A. ULMAN

Funeral for William A. Ulman, former Terra Linda resident, will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Church of the Nativity in Marinwood.

Ulman, son of Adele Carples Ulman of San Rafael, died Sunday in Coral Gables, Fla., apparently of a heart attack. He was 44.

He was a native of New York City. He lived in Terra Linda for about five years in the 1960s.

He is also survived by his father, William A. Ulman Jr. of Wash., D.C., his wife, Bonnie Jean, and three sons, Donald, Jeoffrey and William.

Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

MARY SCALA

A private funeral for Mary R. Scala, mother of Alice Paganini of San Rafael, was held yesterday.

Mrs. Scala, who had been living with her daughter, died Saturday. She was 74. She was a native of Italy.

Mrs. Scala also is survived by two grandchildren.

MYRTLE WILLIAMS

Word has been received that Myrtle B. Williams, wife of the man who built the Villa Rafael Motel, died March 3 in Seattle, Wash.

She was married to the late Pearson Fayette Williams who built the motel at Lincoln and Grand Avenues in 1959 and was its first owner.

Mrs. Williams is survived by a daughter, Donna Cameron of Montana and two sons, Cragin of Reno, and Hunter of Seattle.

Private memorial service will be in Montana. Burial will be in Los Angeles.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the Marin Society of Artists, P.O. Box 203, Ross.

6 WAYS TO COOK WITH LESS ENERGY.

You use more energy in your kitchen than in any other room. Economize with these suggestions:

1. Make sure your oven and surface burners or units are shut off when not in use.
2. Keep oven doors completely closed until food is cooked. Every time you open the door, the oven temperature drops from 25° to 50°. (Oven door windows aid the "peek-a-boo" cook.)
3. Prepare a complete meal when using the oven—main course, vegetable and dessert. Use foods that cook well at similar temperatures. (Exception: delicate green or leafy vegetables.)
4. Use cooking utensils with flat bottoms and tight fitting covers whenever possible. Be sure pots and pans are the right size for range burners or units.
5. Bake and broil from a cold oven start. There's no need to preheat an oven.
6. Thaw frozen meats in refrigerator before cooking. Cook as soon as possible after thawing, and do not re-freeze unless meat has been cooked. A defrosted roast requires approximately 33% less cooking time than a frozen one.

PARADER'S PREDICAMENT

The weather made Montreal's St. Patrick's Day parade more like an arctic expedition Sunday, but the spirit, aided by occasional spirits, of the Irish help carry the day. For one Black Watch member, though, the wind howling around the corner of St. Catherine and Stanley streets not only drowned out the skirl of his pipes, but left him in a rather embarrassing position.

Proceedings Suspended For Drug Help

Criminal proceedings against a 19-year-old San Francisco youth convicted of two forgery counts were suspended yesterday until the youth is treated for his drug addiction.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best declared Eban Gossage an addict or in danger of becoming one, and committed him to the California Rehabilitation Center.

When Gossage is declared cured, he may be sentenced on the check forgery charges or they may be dismissed, said Judge Best.

Gossage pleaded guilty last month to cashing two $200 checks in December on the account of his grandmother, who lives in Corte Madera.

Stock Exchange Ruling Stands

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court let stand yesterday a lower court decision allowing stock exchanges to pass on to investors a government exchange licensing fee.

The lower court summarily dismissed charges that two investors filed against the New York, American and Midwest stock exchanges.

Redevelop Help Asked Of Planners

The Marin County Redevelopment Agency has asked the county planning department to help define boundaries and possible projects for a redevelopment area in Richardson Bay stretching from Sausalito to Mill Valley city limits.

Residents of Tamalpais Valley, Mill Valley and Sausalito discussed the proposal with the agency's board members at a meeting Saturday, according to Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of the redevelopment agency.

The agency board agreed to establish a citizens' advisory committee to work with the agency, county planners and eventually with the board of supervisors in deciding how to improve the unincorporated area. City spokesmen will be included, Shepherd said today.

He explained that the redevelopment proposal would not necessarily mean public takeover of all the lands involved. Under renewal procedures, the county redevelopment agency could work with private developers on such factors as water and sewage, he said.

The redevelopment agency also adopted a resolution changing its monthly meetings from the second Tuesday to the first Thursday, Shepherd reported. The board's next meeting will be April 4, probably in the agency offices in San Rafael, he said.

Madrigal Concert

Madrigal singers from the California Institute of Technology's glee club will perform a variety of music, from classics to folk songs, at 8 p.m. March 28 in the student center at San Marin High School in Novato. The glee club toured Europe in 1972 and the Pacific Northwest last year.

Sausalito Teachers List Their Demands

The Sausalito District Teachers Association last night outlined its 1974-75 contract requests for district trustees.

In addition to a 4 per cent salary hike for the next school year, teachers are asking for a yearly cost-of-living adjustment through 1977, equal to figures published by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, according to Supt. Donald W. Johnson.

Teachers want a district-paid income protection plan plus paid optical and medical prescription expenses.

They also are asking that pupils be distributed equally among classes by Sept. 30 of each year and that the school calendar be reduced from 176 to 175 days.

Other requests by the 38-member association are for three days of personal leave and a 50-minute lunch break. District negotiators are to sit down with teacher representatives to begin discussing the contract before April 1, Johnson said.

Trustees voted to invest $290,000 from the sale of Central School in a revolving fund through county treasurer's office. The district is expected to realize at least 7.6 per cent in interest on the money, according to the superintendent.

Johnson reported two temporary teachers have been notified that they may be laid off to make room for two regular teachers returning from leaves of absence. Notified were Amy Kastins and April Prentice.

Ford Launches Production Of New Small Car

SAN JOSE (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has begun production of its new hot-selling small car, Mustang II, at its assembly plant here.

Production began yesterday, and a second shift is scheduled to begin in mid-May. Company officials expect to hire 1,600 new workers by that time, bringing the plant's total employment to 5,200.

Annual production capacity here by mid May will be about 400,000 autos and trucks — up nearly 150,000 vehicles from last year, the company said. Most of the Mustang II models built here will go to west coast dealers.

Since the Mustang II was introduced six months ago, the company said sales have totaled 122,837, an increase of 124 per cent over last year's bigger model.

is SUNDAY school OUT-OF-DATE?

It's never out-of-date to understand God, and man, and the true nature of the universe.

This understanding is what young people up to the age of 20 gain in our Sunday School.

They're taught a warm and practical Christianity, and how to apply it to everyday problems.

And as they study the Bible, together with Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, they're preparing to help solve the world's problems in the most forward-looking, fresh, and effective way.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Vote May Decide Effect Of Ruling

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has ruled that Marin Municipal Water District's ban on new connections is illegal.

However, just what effect that ruling has, and how soon, may be determined in the June 4 primary election.

Four of the five MMWD directorships will be decided in either the primary or the November runoff election.

THE RACE that bears on what happens to Judge McGuire's decision, however, is that in the water district's Division 5, which includes Sausalito, Marin City, Tamalpais Valley, Tiburon, Belvedere, Alto, Strawberry, and Corte Madera east of Highway 101.

In that division, the June balloting is a special election to fill out two years of the term of Ronald T. Stafford of Sausalito, who quit last month. There are five candidates, and whoever gets the highest vote June 4 will take office immediately thereafter to serve until the term expires at the end of 1976.

The water district board now has only four members, and those four are split two-to-two on the question of population control via denial of water service — which Judge McGuire ruled is illegal.

Directors L. Martin Griffin and Jack R. Felson probably would like to appeal Judge McGuire's ruling, in hope that a higher court might rule differently. Directors John M. MacPhail Jr. and Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. probably would prefer to let the superior court ruling stand rather than spend more of the water users' money to carry the court fight farther.

THE BOARD will have 30 days from the time of Judge McGuire's final order in which to make an appeal. Between now and his final order will be a review of his findings of fact and other legal processes which consume several weeks. It is likely that the 30-day grace period for filing an appeal will not expire before June 4.

Therefore, whoever wins the special election in Division 5 may have the deciding vote on whether to appeal the ruling. If he votes for appeal, the water connection moratorium will remain in effect until that appeal is heard — probably at least another year. If he votes against it, Judge McGuire's ruling will take effect at the end of the 30-day grace period — probably about July 1. The district then will be obligated to supply water as long as it has water to supply.

There are five candidates for the post vacated by Stafford. They are Willard A. Hall, Robert Lee Grant, Dorothy E. Gibson, Polly Smith, and Ben Farlatti.

It will behoove the voters to demand that all five state their positions unequivocally regarding Judge McGuire's ruling. Do they want to appeal it, or allow it to stand? There should be no double-talk or equivocation on this. It is too important a matter. Anyone who will not make his or her position known should be automatically ruled out when the voters of Division 5 go to the polls.

Leaves As Factories

Leaves have been compared to factories. They take air and water and some minerals, and by the process of photosynthesis using solar energy, they make sugars. Almost all the body of a tree is made up of the products of these sugars, the principal one being cellulose. Thus, the leaves are said to export their sugars. To mature fully, a good sized apple, for example, requires the imported sugars from as many as 35 leaves. Consider that the next time you chew an apple from Sebastopol.

CalVet Loan Program Has History Of Success

By EARL G. WATERS

In anticipation of the forthcoming June primary election on a $350 million bond issue for continuation of the veteran home loan program, here are some pertinent facts.

Passage of the bonds will depend almost entirely upon newspaper endorsements. There are no funds for campaigns. The veterans depend upon the good will of the voters for a most beneficial program.

THE CALIFORNIA Veteran Home Loan Program is a local invention. It was innovated by California for California veterans. The idea was born shortly after World War I. While other states were voting veteran bonuses, a small group of men of great wisdom hit upon a way to help the veterans help themselves without costing the state a dime.

They perceived that a bonus would cost the state millions without providing any real benefit to the veteran. But giving the veteran the opportunity to buy his own home not only helped the veteran, but his family, the community and the state as well. For home ownership generally creates more responsible citizens. It also aids the economy by providing employment for the building industry.

At the time, mortgages with low interest and small down payments were not made. Bank mortgages were usually for not longer than five years and required at least 50 per cent down.

THE CALVET PROGRAM has been a boon to veterans and to the state. It also was a boon to the lending institutions, for it showed them the way. And the GI loan program of World War II was prompted by the California program although it differed considerably.

Even with long-term mortgages and small down payments by savings and loan institutions, and with the GI loans, the CalVet program has continued to fill a need. Many a veteran fails to qualify for home loans with the regular lending institutions because his earnings are not sufficient, even if he has put together enough for a down payment. As prices climb it gets even more difficult.

Since the program's inception back in the '20s the CalVet program has made it possible for 283,178 veterans to acquire their own homes. It is estimated that the $350 million bond issue will enable another 15,750 veterans to buy their own homes.

IF THERE IS anything wrong about the June bond proposal it is that it isn't enough. There is a long waiting list for the loans. It would have been more realistic to propose a $500 million bond issue.

It cannot be overemphasized that the program has never in its entire history cost the taxpayers of the state one red cent. To the contrary, unfortunately, it has been milked of several millions for other programs, but this is now being corrected.

"And just why can't we sit here all night and discuss this?"

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Thoughtfulness for others, generosity, modesty, and self-respect are the qualities which make a real gentleman or lady, as distinguished from the veneered article which commonly goes by that name. — Thomas Henry Huxley.

"About this dission in the ranks. . ."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'Quality Of Life' By Killing Our Young

In response to Miss Free's letter on abortion I agree with her that the crux of the problem is the question of free choice. Men and women have always had the choice of whether or not to become parents, but the decision was made before there was a child involved. Today, too often, family planning begins after a new child is conceived. It is too late for family planning then for a new human life has begun. Once a new life is conceived "choice" must necessarily consider the third party involved, the unborn child, who above all wants to live.

Quality of life is important to all of us. Quality of life has been defined by some as clean air, space, an adequate standard of living; it also means self integrity and the ability to give and receive love. We do not as a society achieve quality of life when we kill our young for by so doing we descend to the depths of degradation and despair. We would have a much better chance of solving our many problems if we showed that we really do care about each other by supporting every woman with child.

Fairfax Police Thankful Pay Petition Qualifies

The Fairfax Police Officers' Association would like to thank all the people who helped us with the police pay petition. With the nelp of citizen circulators we were able to collect enough signatures to place the initiative on the June ballot.

We especially wish to thank the many people who signed our petitions. The words of encouragement expressed by numerous signers is greatly appreciated by the members of our association. Being a "blue minority" we sometimes get the feeling that we are standing alone, however the opportunity to speak to so many people has shown us that the people of Fairfax do care about their police officers, and want to be fair and competitive with our salaries.

The association will be dormant on this issue publicly for a couple of months, but will be busy preparing for the June election.

We would also like to express our thanks to the Independent-Journal for the coverage given this important issue.

Unpleasant Experience In Maternity Ward

Recently while in the Marin General Hospital for varicose veins surgery, I was placed in the maternity ward, room 305. I was pleased as I do not smoke.

Down the hall was a social room, TV, magazines — the place, including the hall, constantly blue with cigarette smoke.

The first night a young girl in for a hysterectomy had a boy friend arrive at seven who stayed until after nine. I witnessed the sexiest necking party with two brightly lit cigarettes burning profusely, with a whispering session until a nurse told him to stay off the bed.

Just out of surgery, my throat aching and full of mucous, I did not ask to be moved. They moved me into 306.

The next day a nurse from San Francisco arrived for a uterine biopsy with an attractive girl friend, both chain smokers . . . They had food and a constantly burning cigarette, the party lasting until six when they ordered dinner. The room was blue with smoke, as was the hall as the babies were carried back and forth. A nightclub atmosphere prevailed. The two girls finally went down to the TV set and while gone, I called the nurse to empty the ash trays. She threw them in with the paper in the paper basket, and banging down the ash trays saying I had no right to object to smoking and I had better get out of there.

She called a nurse who dumped all my things on my bed, losing several of my things, and they gave me a crash ride down the hall, running into and touching the walls.

. . . No baby belonging to me would be born there.

Proper Steps Taken When Stray Dog Found

A letter by M. Glover of San Rafael which was published in the Independent Journal on March 9, contained a few assertions which should be answered.

All relative facts have been investigated in this matter and we have found that existing lost animal policies and procedures were followed by Humane Society staff members in attempting to help the animal owner find their lost dog. Those steps taken were as follows:

1. The lost dog was indeed properly placed in the Humane Society shelter stray ward, and . . . properly registered on related forms.

2. The lost dog was advertised in the Independent Journal as being found by the Humane Society. This advertisement appeared on Feb. 22 . . .

3. The lost dog was recorded on the Humane Society "Lost Animal Recording." . . .

4. The animal owner was advised to personally visit the Humane Society shelter at least every two or three days in order to assure that they find their pet . . .

5. Animal owners are advised to leave a lost report, and in this particular case no lost report was filed.

District Attorney Gets Rap For Lomax Case

The vernal equinox is upon us and any housewife knows what that means. Spring cleaning! For those who can afford it, it's out with the old and in with the new, retaining only what has proven its worth over the years.

Soon the primaries will be upon us, and "at this point in time" the voters would do well to emulate the housewife at the polls. We cannot afford not to do our own spring cleaning.

Our minds may have been diverted from local government by Watergate, the gasoline shortage, and other national matters but, like charity, spring cleaning should begin at home. Take, for example, the inaction of the incumbent district attorney over the past two years in the matter of former E.O.C. Executive Director W. Robert Lomax, who really ripped off the taxpayers . . .

By PHIL DESSAUER

Gerald Ford has finally been accepted as vice president. Some people are saying he should resign.

The Arabs like the new U.S. policy in the Middle East, which they feel is impartial and neutral in their favor.

Treasury Secy. George Shultz, a fixture in the national administration since 1969, is quitting. He began to feel he and the president were the only survivors.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

March 19, 1964

An Independent-Journal photographer on three loops through downtown San Rafael during the day, photographed 10 cars parked all day in one-hour metered stalls.

The California Supreme Court gave the Marin County Board of Supervisors until Jan. 15, 1965, to come up with a more equitable redistricting plan than that adopted the preceding January.

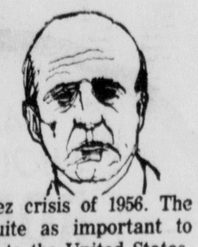

20 YEARS AGO

March 19, 1954

The State Division of Highways announced Shoreline Highway between Muir Beach and Stinson Beach would be closed during daylight hours for about a month for repairs.

France threw every available warplane into the battle to save Dienbienphu in Indochina from attacking Vietminh artillery.

JOSEPH C. HARSCH

Trans-Atlantic 'Community' Still Assortment Of Individuals

LONDON — Superficially if not fundamentally, trans-Atlantic relations reached the point last week of an unseemly slugging match between U.S. Secy. of State Henry Kissinger and his opposite numbers in Paris and Bonn.

The British more or less kept neutral as reproach and counter-reproach hurtled over their heads. It ended in a semi-apology from Kissinger — but also an opinion with which most western diplomats would agree: that differences between the United States and its friends and allies are "real and series."

Just how "real and serious" and in what respect?

THE TRUE ANSWER probably is that the machinery built up so patiently and successfully in the early years after World War II has become obsolete. It served admirably the needs of the times when the European friends and allies were economically exhausted and militarily dependent on the United States.

An extraordinary community of interest existed which made possible the rapid construction of the Atlantic community, with NATO providing the military shield and the Marshall Plan building up the economics of those who had been exhausted by the war.

But does that machinery fit the needs of these times? And if not, what should be put in place of the old institutions?

So far the diplomats mostly have been accusing each other of not working according to the old conventions which evolved during the NATO-Marshall Plan era. Advance consultation, or at the very least advance notice, was an essential part of the process. None of the European allies thinks that Kissinger's diplomacy has ever involved anything like consultation with them and advance notice to them.

He did not tell them in advance that he was going to reopen American relations with China, or launch a detente with Russia. Far more important to them, and more important to the trans-Atlantic slugging match of last week, was his failure to coordinate his Middle East policies with theirs during the recent Middle East crisis. When he accuses them of not giving him advance notice of their intention to deal as a group with the Arab countries, their reactions border on the undiplomatic. The word apoplectic has been used.

THIS IS NOT the first time that trans-Atlantic relations have been strained and reproaches exchanged. The strain was worse over the Suez crisis of 1956. The Middle East is quite as important to Western Europe as to the United States. There is bound to be trouble about it whenever the policies of the two toward the Middle East diverge.

But the latest differences over Middle East policy have exposed rather than caused the fact that there are now "very real and serious" problems in the trans-Atlantic relationship.

In part it is the American "habit of command" which grew up naturally during the early days after World War II when only the Americans had the resources to provide military power and economic aid. Add that the "habit of command" seems to come naturally to Kissinger.

In part also is the French desire since Gaullist days to rush America out of the leadership role and assume it in Paris.

In part it is American slowness in beginning to deal with the Common Market countries as a unit rather than with its members as individuals. And subordinate to that is the difficulty of locating within the Common Market a center of decision with which to advise, consult and negotiate.

BUT ABOVE ALL is the plain fact that the European countries have not yet gone over from being individuals to being a politically coherent group. This is a transition phase in the trans-Atlantic community. At this moment no one can possibly foresee what its shape will be even 10 years from now. What one can know though is that things done today will influence that future shape.

Slugging matches like the counter-battery fire of last week can only tend in the long run to fragment the Atlantic community and make it more difficult in the future to bring it together again within new institutions more in keeping with the times. The fact of such exchanges or reproaches and complaints raises a serious question about the validity of the Atlantic community concept. It is being questioned today as never before.

Back in early postwar days it seemed such a logical thing to bring into being a United States of Europe which, presumably, would be the loyal ally and partner of the United States. The achievement of that goal has proved to be harder than the founding fathers of the postwar era appreciated. They were working out the blueprints 30 years ago. The structure still has no roof.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Nixon, By Rejecting Subpoena, Could Force Own Impeachment

WASHINGTON — The irresistible force at this reading is certain to meet the immovable object.

John Doar, counsel for the House Judiciary Committee, asked the White House for the privilege of examining White House files to determine the wide variety of documents and tapes essential for the impeachment inquiry. Responding to Doar, the president's counsel, James D. St. Clair, said this was impossible.

Attached to Doar's letter was an annex making 69 specific requests. Some of these requests are generally phrased, covering conversations between "one presidential assistant and another presidential assistant" at an approximate date. In his letter Doar had said:

"If we could work out a way whereby members of the inquiry staff may examine these files for the purpose of selecting materials which, in our opinion, are necessary for the investigation, I believe that the inquiry would be expedited."

STATING THE PRESIDENT'S judgment that this "would completely destroy the presidency as an equal coordinate branch of government," St. Clair went on to say:

"Since there is really no effective index of all the presidential documents and materials, this request, as it appears to me, means that you contemplate access by staff members to hundreds of thousands of documents and thousands of hours of recorded conversations covering the widest variety of subjects. To produce and review this material would obviously take many months."

Those anxious to avoid a head-on collision are proposing a compromise. Why not, they say, name an intermediary who could review the documents and the tapes to pass on what is relevant to the inquiry?

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. of the judiciary committee rules this out. It would dilute the authority of the House of Representatives, which under the Constitution has the sole right to conduct an impeachment proceeding.

The concept of an intermediary harks back to the president's initial proposal to make Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi a go-between. Stennis is reported to have objected to certain conditions laid down by the White House.

THIS IS THE SCENARIO. The White House denies the committee the right to examine the files and get material considered relevant. Whereupon the committee issues a subpoena requiring the president to provide the documents and tapes specified in the annex to Doar's letter and any others considered essential.

St. Clair, speaking for his client, the president, rejects the subpoena. Here is the crunch. In Rodino's view that could bring a vote in the House finding the president in contempt. This would in itself be an impeachable offense.

A head-on collision could certainly expedite the impeachment process. It would pass over the lengthy examination of the documents and tapes now being fed out by the White House little by little, like crumbs to a flock of pigeons.

With rejection of the subpoena as the base of the impeachment charge there would be no reason why other matters such as the president's income tax, which can surely be documented, should not be brought in to supplement the fundamental charge.

CERTAIN OF THE President's friends on Capitol Hill have worked to avoid a collision.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the minority leader, took a drubbing for insisting on the wrong attribution by John W. Dean III on the crucial tape with the language "it would be wrong" as related to hush money and clemency. The date, as Scott said, was March 21 rather than March 13 and that has now been established.

It was Scott who said that if it was his responsibility he would back a truck up to the White House, load in everything and take it down to the committee. Scott was also the victim of the claim to having known of tapes that if made public would exonerate the president. They were not made public.

Pressed at one point about the duration of the impeachment inquiry, Rodino gave a terminal date of April 30, now less than six weeks off. The chairman is frank to say that that was an arbitrary date and the chance of meeting it seems remote today.

If those 69 specific requests should be complied with, not to mention the large amount of additional material, the inquiry would hardly end until well into the summer.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"There are a thousand policemen to see you don't park your car too long, where there is not one to see that your child is not kidnapped. Every man on the street can have an automatic pistol in every pocket, yet he will never be searched. But you let your tail light be out, and you're in for life.

"14,000 people were fined last year for parking more than six inches from the curb, five were convicted for selling liquor and three of those got re-trials; two murderers were convicted and then released as insane." — From Notes.

Petaluma East Siders Show Voting Clout On Bond Issues

The changing complexion of Petaluma was graphically shown in the March 5 election, in which voters approved a $750,000 library bond issue and rejected by the narrowest of margins a $1.9 million park improvement issue.

It was the third time around for the library bonds. On two previous occasions the electorate declined to buy a replacement for the 1905 structure at Fifth and D streets.

This time, though, 76 per cent of those who cast ballots supported the new library. The 65 per cent who supported the park bonds were less than two per cent too few for the measure to pass, since it required a two-thirds majority.

IF THE VOTING record is broken down by areas, it becomes evident that east side residents, most of whom settled in Petaluma during the last decade or so, gave greater support to both bond issues than did residents of older areas.

The east side, it should be mentioned, is now the most densely populated part of town.

Altogether 83 per cent of the east side people who voted approved of the library bonds, and 77 per cent voted for the park bonds.

In the older parts of town, 74 per cent of the central Petaluma voters voted for the library bonds while a mere 60 per cent supported the park improvements.

In Western Petaluma, 69 per cent supported the library issue and only 56 per cent voted for the park bonds.

The percentages are evidence that many future elections will be determined by the tract-home dwellers in East Petaluma.

The reason the east side voters gave the strongest support to both bond issues doesn't require much head-scratching: nearly all the east siders are under 50, homeowners and parents of school-aged children.

The writing is on the wall for those who would propose future bond elections in Petaluma — make your pitch to the family types on the east side, who have served notice that they are now the most important single voter bloc in town.

LOOK FOR THE PETALUMA School District to start thinking about a tax election. The schools are short of money, parents are organizing, and budget time is approaching.

Last week school officials told angry Casa Grande High School parents that the Petaluma district spends $100 less per student per year than most California districts.

The March 5 election showed that Petaluma voters aren't totally averse to raising local tax rates.

That in itself may be enough to convince the board of education to try the tax election route.

A STRANGE THING has happened at gas stations in Marin and southern Sonoma during the last week or so.

It has to do (how did you guess?) with lines, which are not nearly what they were a few weeks ago.

The strange part is that motorists are now often able to choose the length of the line they wait in by judging the distance of any given service station from Highway 101.

It boils down to this: If you don't want to wait in line, seek out the station most distant from the freeway.

ART BUCHWALD

Will The Real Richard Nixon Please Identify Himself?

WASHINGTON — Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to "To Tell the Truth."

"No. 1, what is your name, please?"

"My name is Richard Milhous Nixon."

"No. 2, what is your name, please?"

"My name is Richard Milhous Nixon."

"No. 3, what is your name, please?"

"My name is Richard Milhous Nixon."

"ALL RIGHT, PANEL. Now I will read the story. 'I, Richard Milhous Nixon, am the 37th President of the United States. I was re-elected with one of the largest mandates in American history. After my re-election it was revealed that some of my closest aides were involved in dirty tricks, election fraud, breaking and entering and perjury. Congress is now discussing my impeachment.' (Applause.)

"Let's start the questioning with Kitty."

"NO. 1, IF SOMEONE came to you and told you that they wanted to pay hush money to defendants caught in a Watergate break-in, what would you do?"

"I would tell them it was wrong."

"All right, Orson, you're next."

"No. 3, it is revealed that on your income tax return you claimed a deduction of $550,000 for donating your vice-presidential papers to the National Archives. But it turns out the donation was made after the law was changed. What would you say to the charges?"

"I would say that Lyndon B. Johnson made me do it."

"No. 1?"

"I would say that I only did what John Kenneth Galbraith has been doing for years."

"Bill?"

"No. 1, the House Judiciary Committee has asked for tapes and documents to help them in their impeachment hearings. How would you handle that?"

"FIRST, I WOULD tell the American people that I am willing to co-operate in any way to bring the Watergate matter to a resolution. Then I would tell my lawyer not to turn over any tapes or documents that he considered would in any way hurt the presidency of the United States."

"No. 3?"

"I would say the House is on a fishing expedition and I am against fishing expeditions of any kind."

"No. 2?"

"Peggy?"

"No. 3, at one press conference you said John Dean did not tell you about the hush money being paid to the Watergate defendants. At another you admitted he did. How would you square the two statements with the American people?"

"I WOULD SAY that people will read different things into what I said. But I'm the only one who knows what I meant."

"No. 2?"

"I would call in Sen. Hugh Scott and show him new evidence that Dean is a liar."

"No. 1?"

"I would announce the end of the oil embargo in the Middle East."

"All right, panel, our time is up. Please vote whom you think is the real Richard Milhous Nixon.

"NOW WILL THE REAL Richard Milhous Nixon please stand . . . I said will the real Richard Milhous Nixon please stand up. Come on, one of you is the real one. Hurry up, we're running out of time. There seems to be a mix-up, ladies and gentlemen. No one wants to admit he's the real Nixon.

"No. 1, who are you?"

"I am Sarah McClendon, a newspaperwoman."

"No. 2, who are you?"

"I am Spiro Agnew, a fiction writer."

"No. 3, who are you?"

"I am not a crook."

FROZEN SYRUP

A spring storm that dumped seven inches of snow on the Berkshire Mountains near Sheffield, Mass., caught the maple syrup business by surprise Sunday and brought the flow of syrup to a halt.

Firm Seeks $525,000 In Lagoon Case

A development company embroiled in a squabble over locks and docks in Bel Marin Keys has asked a Marin judge to award it $525,000 in damages.

That request by Waterway Properties Inc., along with several other legal points, will be argued at a hearing Friday in Marin Superior Court.

Waterway Properties wants court permission to resume construction of a 280-foot boat dock for use by tenants of a condominium project, while the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District wants the dock removed because it supposedly was begun without a permit.

After the district sued to halt the dock in January, Richard E. Blackburn, a director of Waterway, sued to block a tidal lock at the mouth of Bel Marin Keys Lagoon because one end was to be anchored on land he owned.

The district won a court order last week to condemn Blackburn's land for the project, and wants to pay him $1,000 for an easement.

Don R. Stephens of San Francisco, Blackburn's attorney, said lawyers had agreed to a settlement of the suits but the district board of directors voted not to accept the compromise.

So Stephens filed a new complaint against the district, asking $525,000 damages from it and its five directors.

Besides the question of damages, Friday's hearing will involve a permanent order against the dock, and whether the district has a right to take immediate possession of the condemned easement for its lock without a waiting period.

Seminar Aimed At Preventing Thefts

A film and seminar to help prevent home burglaries will be given for residents of the Terra Linda Springs area at 8 p.m. March 28 in the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Three members of the San Rafael police department will discuss techniques of thwarting burglars, as part of the county-wide Project 459 antiburglary campaign sponsored by the Marin County Criminal Justice Planning Department. The Terra Linda Springs Association will host the meeting.

Crowe Pleads Innocent To Scuffle With Axe

Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge he hit a 19-year-old youth with an axe during a fight March 6.

Judge Robert A. Smallman set a preliminary hearing on the felony charge, assault with a deadly weapon, for April 15.

The other participant in the fight, Kenneth M. Davidson, also appeared in court for arraignment on a misdemeanor count of disturbing the peace. He will enter a plea April 2.

Although Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said last week his office would ask that both men be booked, fingerprinted and photographed at Marin County Jail, no such request was made of Judge Smallman.

Crowe and Davidson allegedly fought in a city street following an argument between Davidson and Roberta Laidley over a for-sale sign reportedly placed in Mrs. Laidley's yard by pranksters.

The Marin District Attorney's office said Crowe hit Davidson in the back with a double-bladed axe, nearly severing a belt and causing a gash requiring 30 stitches to close. Davidson reportedly broke a beer bottle over Crowe's head during the fracas.

Meanwhile, Crowe has applied for state compensation insurance money for head wounds suffered in the battle, claiming he was injured while "acting in (the) course of employment." The claim, entitled "Employer's Report of Industrial Injury," was filed with the state Department of Industrial Relations, Division of Statistics and Research in Santa Rosa.

In another development, The Fairfax Town Council last night said it will meet with the administrator in closed session at 8 p.m. Monday in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The council, noting it suspended Crowe indefinitely last week, pledged to clear up the administrator's status with the city "very quickly."

Closed Session

The San Anselmo City Council will meet in closed session at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to hear charges against a city employee, according to the city administration.

A SPACIOUS studio on the top floor of the family home was designed as part of the Schwartz house in Strawberry. Leah Schwartz, who paints with oils and watercolors, does her work in the 50 by 30 foot loft, with natural light from large windows. The artist shows Trubee Schock, president of the Mill Valley Area Branch, AAUW, the oil painting, "End of the Storm" on her easel. The studio will be open to visitors of the benefit house tour.

Tour Of Artists' Studios Being Offered By AAUW

By BETTY FROST

A variation on the ever-popular house tour is the tour of seven artists studios which the Mill Valley Area Branch of the American Association of University Women is planning from 1 to 4 p.m. March 26.

Four studios of working artists in Mill Valley and three in the Strawberry Point district will be open to public view. Refreshments will be served at the Genesis Gallery during the tour. Genesis Gallery has also provided consultants to the committee, headed by Mrs. Rene Cardinaux, tour chairman and reservations chairman.

Of special interest are the complex of studios of sculptor Richard O'Hanlon and his wife, artist Ann O'Hanlon in Mill Valley. Richard, a professor teaching sculpture at the University of California at Berkeley, has a two-story tall building with the tools of his specialty neatly arranged and models of his work on display. Examples of his sculptures adorn an adjacent garden and line a wooded walk.

Mrs.O'Hanlon's studio is composed of two downstairs rooms, and a large room and outside deck on the upper level. For 20 years she was chairman of the Dominican College Art Department. Now she conducts perception workshops in her studio and concentrates on her own painting.

Also in Mill Valley is the studio weaver Eugenia Enevoldsen. The high-ceilinged living room in her home, built in 1902, is Mrs. Enevoldsen's studio.

The weaver's large loom is in the middle of the house, and there she produces the work which will be on display during the studio tour. She has studied weaving at the College of Marin and with Mrs. Beatrice Bernardi in Sausalito. Her work has been displayed throughout the Bay area.

OIL PAINTER Naomi Hardy uses a room adjacent to the family room in her Mill Valley home for her studio. She achieves dreamy translucent landscapes with an Oriental quality by using fluid paint working with canvas on the floor, mixing pure colors by tilting the canvas. She studied at the College of Marin, Dominican College and the University of California Extension Division. Her work has been displayed throughout California.

At her home on Strawberry Point, Ruth Hofmann's naval architect husband designed a separate structure for the studio where she creates pottery and sculpture. In a garden setting, with an eye-catching bay view, Mrs. Hofmann sometimes works outdoors and examples of her sculpture are displayed at the entrance to her studio. She is chairman of the art department at San Domenico School in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Hofmann received the bachelor of arts degree at the University of Michigan, and the Master of Fine Arts degree from California State University, San Francisco. She has also studied in England, France and New York. Her work has been displayed at museums and galleries in New York and California. Locally, her ceramics have been shown at the DeYoung Museum, San Francisco Art Museum, and the Richmond Art Center.

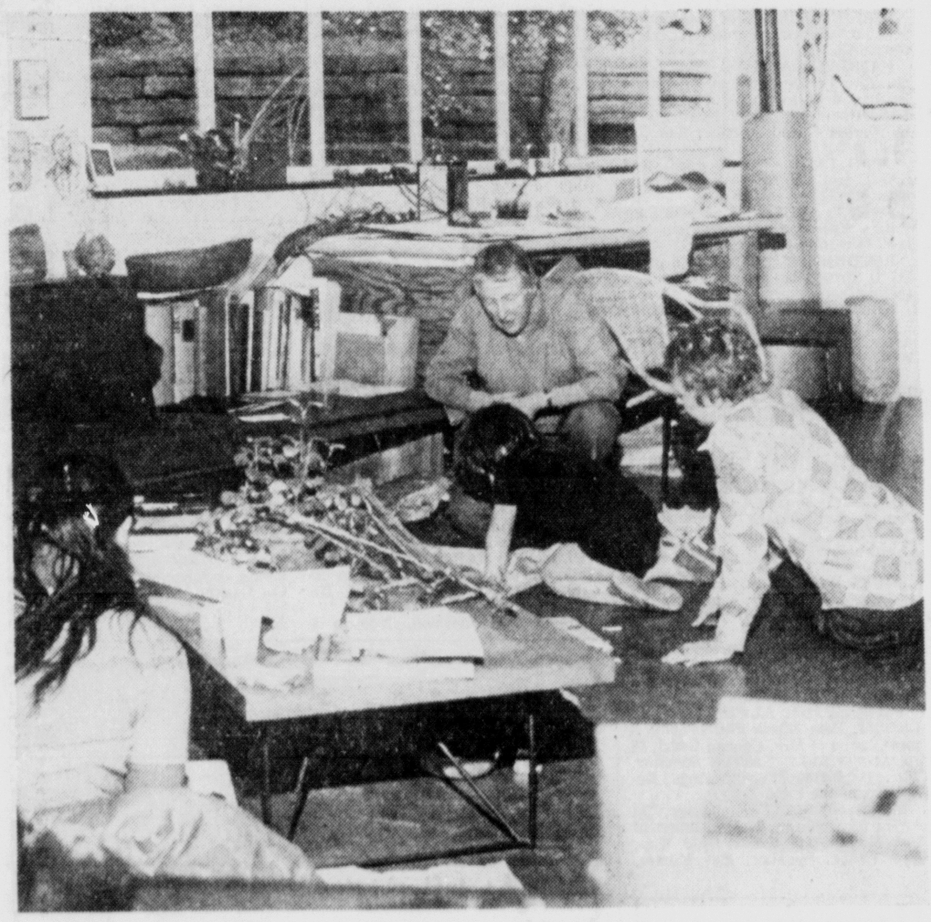

Leah Schwartz also lives at Strawberry Point. A spacious studio was incorporated into the design of her home, and occupies the entire top floor. The painter uses oils and watercolor, and often uses her camper as a roving studio to capture landscapes with watercolors throughout northern California. She studied in New York City, and San Francisco. She has had a number of one-woman shows in the Bay region. She is a member of San Francisco Women Artists, the Marin Society of Artists and Genesis Gallery in Mill Valley.

MAGGIE HAZEL ROSEN, a painter and printer, has a printing press in the studio in her Strawberry home, where she experiments with printing techniques.

She studied at the Chicago Art Institute, Vancouver School of Art, California School of Fine Arts, Hassell Smith School and the College of Marin. She is a past president of the San Francisco Women Artists, and has served on the board of directors of the Marin Society of Artists and the Sausalito Arts Center. She directed the Sausalito Art Festival for two years. Her work has received awards in Marin County, and in 1971 she won the Marin Society of Artists annual award. She has been art critic for the Pacific Sun, and is a contributor to Artweek magazine.

The studio tour will benefit the AAUW Branch's Fellowship program for women graduate students. Tickets are available at art stores in Mill Valley and Strawberry and at the Genesis Gallery.

Assisting on the committee are Claudia Benton, hostess chairman; Sharon Jones and Beverly Sarjeant, posters.

ON THE AGENDA

Church Guild Planning A Sale Featuring 'Elegant' Rummage

The Women's Guild of the Church of Religious Science of Marin County will have a sale of "elegant rummage" Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Chairman is Miriam McAvoy of Greenbrae. Persons wanting to donate items for the sale should contact Ripple Eckery of Larkspur or Helen Louden of Mill Valley.

THE MARIN County Woman's Council of Realtors will have a round table discussion of termite reports and how they affect all real estate transactions at its breakfast meeting Friday at 8:30 a.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. hospitality room in San Rafael.

Participating in the discussion will be representatives of termit control firms, Al Kesecker, Bill Woods, Pat Pauly and Robert Ashford.

JULIA CHILD will begin a series of cooking classes Monday as a benefit for the Women's Board of the Pacific Medical Center. Classes can be taken individually or as a series of four.

Marin committee members are Mrs. Gregory Solon of Ross and Mrs. Robert A. L. Menzies of Kentfield.

MARIN ALUMNAE of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority will have a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Vogel in San Rafael.

Retired narcotics deputy Guy Skelton will speak on narcotics.

Hostesses for the luncheon will be Mmes. Todd H. Slade and James R. Laible.

JENNIFER JACOBY will speak on chest physiotherapy Thursday at the 7:30 p.m. meeting of Marin Division 17, California Licensed Vocational Nurses Association, in the Blue Room at Marin General Hospital.

Reservations chairman is Victorene W. Fry of San Rafael.

THE HOME and Garden Section of the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club will have a spring flower show Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the clubhouse in Kentfield.

The open house show, "Flowers of Yesteryear", will be arranged by chairmen Mrs. Roland Becsey and Mrs. Esther McDonald. Mrs. Joseph Florke and Mrs. John Carrothers will be hostesses.

THE QUESTION Marks Square Dance Club will have a hoedown Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Cotati Women's Club Hall.

Keith Gylfe will be the caller.

Party Will Open KQED Auction

A kick-off party for volunteers will officially launch the KQED-Channel 9 Auction March 30 at 1101 Bryant Street, San Francisco, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Attending from Marin will be Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Jaffe of Greenbrae, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Rozen of San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. William Taggart of San Anselmo, and Mrs. Toni Roby of Greenbrae.

Anyone wishing to work as solicitors for Marin County at the auction may contact Mrs. Richard Greene of Tiburon or Mmes. Rozen and Jaffe.

Linda Marmysz Wed To William Macioci

Linda Marmysz of San Rafael and William Joseph Macioci Jr. of Ontario were married Saturday at St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Marmysz of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of William J. Macioci of San Rafael and Mrs. Margaret Macioci of Ontario.

Maid of honor for the bride was Joyce Roitsch of San Francisco, and bridesmaids were Denice Driver of San Rafael and Loretta Lofton of San Francisco.

The bridegroom's brother, Jim Nixon of Hayward, was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Robert Johnson of San Leandro and Dan Leandro and Dan Beatty of Berkeley.

A reception at Peacock Gap Country Club followed the ceremony.

Linda was graduated from Redwood High School and the University of California at Berkeley. She is employed by Aetna Life and Casualty Co. in Berkeley. John Marmysz of San Rafael is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Alexander Logan of Glasgow, Scotland.

The bridegroom is a graduate of St. Mary's College in Moraga and is also employed by Aetna in Berkeley. His sisters are Rosemarie Ann Macioci of Fullerton, Gayle Manning of San Jose and Noreene Anderson of Montclair.

The newlyweds are living in Walnut Creek.

Dinner-Dance Benefit Slated

The New State of Mind will present a Springtime Dinner Dance and Benefit for All tomorrow from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Petaluma Veterans' Memorial Building, 1094 Petaluma Boulevard South, to celebrate the spring solstice.

Music will be provided by the Gang Band from Cotati, Rufus Redhorn Jazz Band from San Francisco, students of the Ali Akbar College of Music and the Edge City Blues Band with guest performer Isaac Evans.

A light show by Northern Lights of Santa Rosa will be included in the celebration and Nick Buchanan from Lifespring in San Francisco will lead a Ring-Around-Rebirth Ritual. An enchilada dinner will be served by Rita Booth of Glen Ellen.

The New State of Mind is a group of Petaluma women supporting evolution of consciousness. Tickets are available at all Ticketron outlets.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Paradox Not A Pair Of Ducks, But Dictionary Not Much Help

RAP:

I'm a "word collector," but my dictionary definition of "paradox" throws me. So I asked a friend for an example, and of course, he came up with something hilarious, like "a couple of water squatters."

When I didn't laugh, he got huffy and bet me that the first ten people I questioned couldn't give me an example.

You two are the ninth and tenth. Please don't let me down! —W.C.

W.:

You're right: the dictionary definition isn't exactly helpful. Mine says, "A statement . . . seemingly absurd or contradictory to the received belief . . . but perhaps really true." Come agin, Messrs. Funk and Wagnalls?

A friend gave me an example of what he calls a paradox: With the same amount of oil and gas supplies in the U.S., how come last year we were urged to buy and buy, and this year there's an energy crisis? —SUE

W.C.:

An editor friend gives two examples:

1. Some Americans hail Aleksander Solzhenitsyn as a martyr. (His book, "The Gulag Archipelago," exposes the horrors of Communist rule in his native Russia). Yet many of these same people believe Jane Fonda should be jailed or drummed out of the U.S. as a traitor (while in Russia she is hailed as a martyr). Which side of the fence you're on makes all the difference!

2. The person who opposes capital punishment yet favors abortion is (paradoxically) saying the guilty should live while the innocent should die. — HELEN

P.S. Perhaps I should change my definition to "arguable ironic absurdity." Our examples will fetch a raft of rebuttals.

DEAR RAP:

You hear a lot about mama's boys, but my problem is I'm married to a father's boy!

My husband called his daddy on our honeymoon to tell him the fish were really biting and "come on up." After that, they were out on the streams while I tagged along, getting mosquito bites.

In the six months we've been married, Jim and his father have spent almost every weekend playing golf or fishing, hunting, or whatever. We're over there several times a week, and I actually know his mother better than I do her son, because we're together so much — while the men are talking sports, or watching games on TV. She doesn't like this either, but — what can we do when they won't include us? They'd rather go off by themselves as they think women and sports don't mix. — LONELY BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE:

Have you two ever tried proving that women and sports do mix? Get involved with your husbands' activities. Don't let them leave you home — or out of their conversations. Insist they teach you how to fish, golf, hunt, whatever.

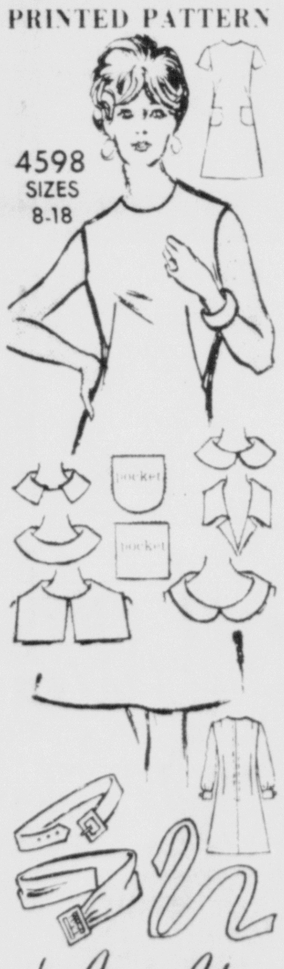

This might help two ways: Either you'll learn to enjoy sports, or you'll become such nuisances that they'll compromise and spend more of their time doing what truly pleases you. — HELEN AND SUE

P.S. Good luck in re-educating Jim's mother. It isn't easy, changing a patient little stay-at-homer into an "activist." But without her cooperation you may be licked before you start. — HELEN

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Donations For Art Sale Sought

Contributions of artwork and paintings are being sought by members of the San Francisco-Marin Women's American Organization for Rehabilitation through Training (ORT) for the April 28 "Art for Ort's Sake" treasure and art sale.

San Francisco artist Bea W. Kirschenbaum, chairman of the sale, said the event "is not a cast-off sale, but those a bit tired of their present art and paintings, treasures, and silver might wish to donate or to replace with others, and at the same time support the work of Women's American ORT."

All monies raised from the show will benefit the ORT School of Engineering now under construction at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Contributors may contact the ORT office at 10 19th Avenue, San Francisco.

Bed Today Can Be Focal Point When Decorating An Apartment

By EMILY MALINO
Distributed by United Features Syndicate

There's a whole new way of looking at a one-room apartment. In the old days, folks went to a great deal of trouble to hide their bed, figuring it was just too personal to show to guests.

In today's far more practical world, a bed can be an acceptable part of the decorating scheme, if not the focal point. Gone are the days of hidden beds, of beds made to look like sofas, which one must grapple with each night before using, as well as re-equip — with blankets and comforters — for a good night's sleep.

Of course, there is a place for the sofa bed — as an occasional bed for a visitor who must use the living room, or study, for a sleep space. For this occasion, a sofa bed is a commonsense solution.

But for the daily occupant, a ready bed is a far more sensible answer and one of the nicest ideas to come along the pike is something called a lofa. It's not a lounge, it's not a sofa, it's a happy combination of the two.

WHAT IS a lofa? It's something you can make yourself, a simple foam mattress, upholstered or zip-covered or ticked, that sits on the floor or very near it.

In a one-room I designed, I used a standard double foam mattress and covered it in a big bold window-pane check, like a giant tattersall. I set it on a frame made of two-by-fours, just about the same height as the baseboard molding at the walls, and made one huge, generous, heavily stuffed pillow for an informal headboard.

The cover is a heavy linen, not too different from an old-fashioned dish towel, made in a contour shape, with elasticized corners to fit under the mattress and allow an extra inch for a mattress pad, sheets, and an electric blanket.

In this way, all the bedding can be tied up in the morning with a few whisks before charging off to work and the whole bit covered with the easy-fit contour cover; this can be just as easily removed in the evening.

THE BED pillows are stored in a nearby closet. In a place with skimpy closets, the bed pillows can themselves be the bolster headboard; just stitch up a couple of zippered pillow-cases of a sturdy cotton — corduroy or velvet could be a rich contrast to the linen bedcover — and these can be quickly removed for nighttime use.

If you're a real purist, don't use the platform or the pillows; simply set the foam mattress on the floor and bend the part nearest the wall vertical, making a continuous back rest and a shallower lounge at the same time.

The lofa is the center of the room. It is the party lounge, joined by a tiny dining table and a single lounge chair, all that this mini-home could hold. A giant graphic on the wall gives height and a new sense of proportion to this insignificant space, where the bed is the sofa is the lofa, a truly versatile, yet inexpensive focal point for an otherwise anonymous room.

Teamwork Workshop Scheduled

The Sonoma County Education Employees Association and the Sonoma County Schools Office of Education will sponsor a teamwork workshop Saturday for Sonoma County Clerical Employees and Administrators at the Analy High School auditorium in Sebastopol.

Dr. Yvette Fallandy, vice president of Sonoma State College, will be the guest speaker at the noon luncheon.

The workshop will begin at 9 a.m. with group discussions on communication and professionalism at the county district level, professionalism at the school level and team work in the office.

Speakers will be Dorothy Williams, secretary to the superintendent of Sacramento City Schools; Laura Hammond, school secretary-registrar for Placer Joint Union High School District, and Eleanor Franksen, secretary to the dean of administration at Los Rios Community College.

Carolyn Jean Farrenkopf Marries Mark S. Caswell

Carolyn Jean Farrenkopf of Kentfield became the bride of Mark Steven Caswell of Calipatria in a March 9 rite at St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Victoria Payne of Sacramento was the maid of honor for the bride, and bridesmaids were Jeannie Ross and Sandee Stephan of Arcata and Jennifer White of Novato.

Bob Haught of Arcata was best man, and the guests were seated by the bridegroom's brother Terry Caswell of Clearfield, Utah, and Alan Schieger of Arcata.

After the reception at the church parish hall, the couple took a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe. They will live in Bethesday, Md.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Farrenkopf of Kentfield, Carolyn is a graduate of Redwood High School, attended the College of Marin and is a senior at California State University, Humboldt. She is the sister of Phylistell White of Novato and William E. Farrenkopf of Walnut Creek.

Mark's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lealand Caswell of Calipatria. The bridegroom is also the brother of Leanna Huff and Cindy Caswell, both of Calipatria.

He is a graduate of Calipatria High School, attended CSU, Humboldt, and has been serving with the Navy at Great Lakes, Ill.

Sycamore Avenue Barricade Protest

About 75 unhappy Mill Valley residents stormed last night's city council meeting to protest against the blocking of Sycamore Avenue, a popular short-cut through the city.

Partial barricades went up on the street last weekend in an effort to deter all but residents of the area from using Sycamore. An equally vocal crowd of Sycamore and Nelson Avenue residents had been asking for the closure for several weeks.

In spite of last night's protests, the council voted to continue the experiment with the blockades for two weeks in the hope that confused drivers will get used to the closure.

City staff and audience members described the first few days with the barricades as chaotic.

"We had many complaints from those on adjacent streets," said City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher. "Some Sycamore Avenue residents started putting up their own street signs and tried to direct traffic with a bullhorn."

Many from nearby streets said that stymied drivers were being diverted to narrow side streets — Locke Lane and Hilarita and Amicita avenues.

"You let this go on much longer and there won't be a Locke Lane left," said Carl L. Haynes of 8 Valley Circle.

Benjamin Hartwell of 27 Locke Lane said that the barricades had created "an intolerable situation in our neighborhood." He said, "Sycamore is a collector street; it ought to be widened, not cut off."

Richard Greenwald of 23 Locke Lane called the traffic situation "a horrible, miserable failure."

The operator of Egger and Son Nurseries, James Egger, said that the barricades were hurting his business on Sycamore and noted that he had once agreed to give the city an easement to use in widening the street.

"The people who bought homes there knew what it was like," he said. "It's like buying a house next to an airport and two weeks later saying 'let's get rid of airplanes.'"

Councilman Robert E. Capron replied that the council had decided that traffic has to be controlled to prevent it from turning a residential neighborhood into a more commercial one. "You're ignoring the fact that we're trying to save a neighborhood," he told Egger.

Mayor Robert E. Burton, an original opponent of the barricades, said that the city has to give the idea a longer try before dumping it. "Taking one weekend as an example is a bit premature."

Capron then moved to continue the blockades and the council approved the motion unanimously.

6 Arrested In Theft Of Auto

A Cotati man and five Petaluma juveniles were arrested by San Rafael police yesterday on suspicion of vehicle theft following a chase that ended when a patrol car rammed the fleeing vehicle.

Richard Wong, 18, of 1375 Rose Avenue, Cotati, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $1,250 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Five Petaluma boys aged 16 to 17 were cited to Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Their names were withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

San Rafael police said the group was driving in a car down Highway 101 about 4 a.m. yesterday and failed to stop for a routine traffic check. A patrol car chased the vehicle to Highway 37 and rammed the fleeing auto, police said.

The car had been stolen from a parking place at the Petaluma Inn, according to police.

PT&T Wins Right For Lot Use

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., threatening to move its business offices out of Mill Valley if thwarted, persuaded the city council last night to let it use a temporary sewage holding tank for the next six months on a lot where the firm cannot get a sewer connection.

Representatives of the utility explained that they will apply to the city planning commission for persmission to place a portable office building temporarily on the Lomita Avenue site as well.

The company is being evicted from its present quarters on East Blithedale Avenue. It had planned to build a new facility on the Lomita site. But that project has been delayed because it cannot get a building permit for the structure until the Regional Water Quality Control Board lifts its ban on new sewer connections in Mill Valley — an action expected in June.

"We might not come back," said A. P. Herman of the phone company with reference to the request. "If we can't get this temporary facility, we'll close the office down completely and consolidate in San Rafael."

The office is a business facility with 25 employees. The 3,000 gallon tank would be built underground and will have to be pumped out weekly and the sewage hauled away by truck.

Telephone company representatives said they had tentative approval from the county health department for the arrangement.

Councilman Robert E. Capron said that if the city allowed PT&T to use its property in this way before the end of the sewer ban, it should do the same for owners of residential property waiting to build on their lots.

"What is the difference between this request and one from Sam Snodgrass who owns a lot and wants to move in. He's been sitting around for two years waiting for the end of the ban. What if he wanted to build a holding tank? He might be getting evicted, too."

"The difference is that this would be for the public not for Sam Snodgrass' convenience," replied Lawrence A. Mayer of Mill Valley, attorney for the firm. "This is a public utility."

Capron complained that "the same would be true of any large size business establishment."

However, Mayor Robert E. Burton moved to approve the tank for six months use. The measure passed 3-to-2 with Capron and Councilman Ivan S. Poutiatine dissenting.

The council turned down a request to allow building of the permanent office complex until the sewer ban is lifted. However, at a previous meeting it had approved building of foundations for the permanent offices.

Mill Valley's Consulting Engineers Resign Duties

Bala and Strandgaard, Mill Valley's consulting engineers for 15 years, quit last night after the city council decided to begin recruiting a full-time city civil engineer.

"We treat our job seriously, and this is the only proper step in this case," said Stanley M. Bala as he handed the council a letter of resignation.

He said that he and partner Jesper Strandgaard will stop working for the city April 18.

Councilmen had said earlier that they wanted to begin recruiting only on an exploratory basis with an eye to studying the situation before reaching a final decision.

But Bala said his firm could not wait for the council to make up its mind. "We cannot have that kind of situation. We have 10 people in our office and some of them might have to be laid off."

Councilmen then voted to discuss the situation again at their April 1 meeting.

The vote to begin recruiting came after City Mgr. Ronald L. Usher said the city could save about $20,000 per year in engineering costs by having a permanent engineer on the Mill Valley staff.

The city has been paying Bala and Strandgaard about $80,000 per year in fees.

Councilmen Ivan S. Poutiatine and Mayor Robert E. Burton agreed to investigate setting up the engineering staff but said they doubted that Usher could save so much money under a new arrangement.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

CABLE — Appointed Pat Goggins of 475 Throckmorton Avenue to the city's cable television committee.

REZONING — Postponed to April 15 an appeal of a planning commission denial of a request to rezone Sabella's restaurant building from commercial recreational to commercial general.

BUILDING BAN — Introduced an ordinance to extend for one more year a building ban on 600 open acres. The ban is designed to give the city time to revise its general plan.

USE PERMITS — Asked the city attorney to revise an ordinance designed to require tourist oriented businesses to get conditional use permits before opening. Council asked that the ordinance include a provision that the city's business assistance committee be allowed the chance to review the use permit applications before the planning commission considers them.

PUBLIC SAFETY BUILDING — Approved the architectural materials, colors and landscaping for the new east Mill Valley public safety building which will house police and fire departments. Architect Matthew R. Mills said he will get cost estimates now on the building.

LIAISON — Abolished the system of assigning council members as liaison to various city commissions.

ALTO SANITARY — Voted to ask the Alto Sanitary District board for a joint meeting to discuss renegotiating the contract under which Mill Valley processes the district's sewage.

Elizabeth Saves Meg's Marriage

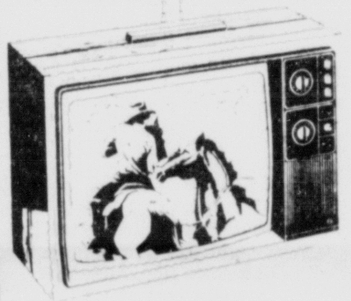

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, had serious domestic problems in 1967 that led some friends to think they might separate at that time, a well-informed royal source said today. Queen Elizabeth reportedly intervened to stave off a public break.

The difficulties were patched up and the Snowdons have had a "reasonably content" marriage since,friends say.

The 1967 situation, reported to have been known at the time to a small, discreet circle, came into the news today when Buckingham Palace officials refused to comment on an article due to appear in McCall's Magazine in the U.S., saying that the Snowdons were dissuaded from divorce by Queen Elizabeth.

ART REVIEW

By ADA GARFINKEL

Photography as a vehicle for personal expression with "statement" more important than "technical expertise" — these were the qualifications governing the selection of the show now in the College of Marin's Fine Arts Gallery.

Presented nationally as an open competition to all community college students "who are presently enrolled or who have been registered in a photography course within the past year," each participant was allowed a maximum of four entries, with no limitations on size or subject.

Most of the participants are from California; two are from the state of Washington, and two live in Mossouri. All but a few of the 53 selected photos are in black and white.

There are remarkably few spontaneous shots such as Robert Gregory's crowded bench of readers, or his purchase-award winning photo of light reflections on a moving auto.

Light, both natural and artificial, as a formal or dramatic element is included in many of the photographs. It appears as a dancing rectangle hovering on a wall in Shari Perkins' interior view; as an irregular triangle in Donald Massey's tunnel-exit shot, and as highlights on architectural elements in Sheila Diegnan's interiors.

Other interesting photos are textural studies by Verena Brooks, Patricia Aime, and Myrtle Heery. Barbara Levin's cropped, head-on view of an escalator, and Jim Marshall's close-up shot of a hippo behind bars show an alertness to design qualities.

Jurors for this competition were Linda Connors of the San Francisco Art Institute faculty; Robert F. Heinecken, Professor of Art at the University of California, Los Angeles; Thomas Johnson and Timo T. Pajunen, photography instructors at the College of Marin, and Leland D. Rice of Claremont College.

Viewing hours through April 5, are weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Mill Valley Trustees To Decide Year-Round Plan Fate Monday

By REBECCA LARSEN

Climaxing a debate of several months, the Mill Valley School District board next Monday will decide whether to convert one district school to a year-round program.

The issue has created as many hot arguments in the district as the battle between those who favor stressing the traditional three Rs and those who favor educational experiments.

Much of the decision will rest on a mail survey of parents which is being tallied presently by a special district committee on alternative calendars. Although district board members have said that the survey should not be considered an election on the issue, they also have said that they will set up the new calendar only in a school where the majority of parents and teachers favor it.

The board already has decided to limit the program to one elementary school and has decided on a 45-15 calendar. This schedule would include roughly four cycles of nine weeks of school alternating with three weeks of vacation, plus a seven-week summer holiday.

The likeliest guinea pig for the program appears to be Marin Terrace, Homestead or Old Mill schools where parents and teachers have shown the most interest.

Some parents object that the district has campaigned too hard in favor of a year-round program.

"I think it's worth giving change a chance," said Supt. Peter Palches. "We've worked hard to investigate this, but we haven't tried to push the idea down anybody's throat."

The district has made several mailings to notify parents about year-round calendar discussions and has held meetings where both proponents and opponents have spoken.

Those favoring the program argue that the new calendar would give children and teachers a more relaxing schedule.

"I started off neutral on the idea myself," until I got educated," said Dorothy Book, chairman of the alternative calendar committee. "But I think the main argument for the calendar is that it would break up that horrible winter that ends with the teachers and students drained. A lot of people say that because our committee was mostly for the calendar, we couldn't be fair, but I feel we were. We had open meetings, and we tried to track down everybody's concerns."

Proponents note that during winter breaks, they can hold exciting intersession programs in which students experience activities that can't be squeezed into the regular school year: visits to operas and museums, camping trips.

"The intersession really intrigued me," said Liz Bolton, a parent with two children at Homestead School. "It gives the school community a way to provide an opportunity to do something different. And there are still seven weeks in the summer for family vacations."

Objections have centered partly on the fact that such year-round schedules are usually found in overcrowded districts, not districts like Mill Valley where enrollment is declining. Year-round calendars can be staggered so that about 25 per cent more students can be accommodated at a school than is usually the case under regular calendars.

"The people are having their lifestyles changed when it would not really be necessary," said Ronald Davis, a fourth and fifth grade teacher at Old Mill School. "I have one child in kindergarten at another school who would be on one program while I would be on another."

The program would mess up family vacations, cause hardships for working mothers who would have to rearrange babysitters and make it hard for parents with children attending both year-round schools and regular schedule schools, say opponents.

"It would make family vacations very confusing," said Shirley Morrison, an English professor at the College of Notre Dame in Belmont. She has one child at the Mill Valley Middle School and one child at Old Mill.

"In February one child would have a three-week vacation while my husband and I are working. It wouldn't be a vacation for that child. He'd have to be regimented into the intersession which is just another form of classes."

"If it would help academically, that might be different," said Mrs. Morrison. "But generally kids perform about the same under both calendars. So I question the reasons for doing this."

Would year round school be more expensive?

Not according to Palches who said the only added expense might be the cost of bussing children out of year-round school areas and into schools with regular schedules. (Allowing children to transfer out of a school with a year-round calendar is one of the conditions for setting up the new program, according to the school board.)

The intersessions would bring in heavy state financial aid, just as summer school does.

"Obviously if it turns out to be clearly more expensive, we wouldn't do it," said Palches. "We're already firing teachers to cut costs and we wouldn't go to 45-15 if it meant it cost too much."

Palches pointed out that most reports from districts where 45-15 has been tried have been glowing.

"It's worked for us," said Charles Cadman, principal of Cherry Valley School in Petaluma, who has spoken at meetings in Mill Valley. "But I wouldn't want to go to anyone and say they had to try it too."

His main argument for the program is that it provides more recreation and rest.

"Year after year we used to note that our best teachers were at below peak efficiency by April or May. They were drained. They had given too much for too long. But I can tell already this year on the new calendar that they won't be all run down by the end of the term."

McCall's Mother Bows Out Of Governor's Race

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I decided I did not want to get into the muck of politics," said 85-year-old Dorothy McCall in announcing she would not run for governor of Oregon to succeed her son.

Mrs. McCall withdrew yesterday, a month after she said she'd run, focusing her campaign on problems of the elderly. Her son, Gov. Tom McCall, cannot seek a third consecutive term under Oregon law.

The governor said the day after his mother announced her candidacy that there would be no stopping her. "Since girlhood, she has done her own thing," he said.

New Plan For Women Inmates Set

A new county program will draw a bead on "dead time" served by women inmates in Marin County Jail.

"Dead time," said Bella H. Aaron, director of the Marin County Criminal Justice Planning Agency, is the time that women inmates spend in jail without receiving vocational training or counseling for problems. Correctional authorities consider it wasted time.

Mrs. Aaron announced yesterday the receipt of a $61,484 grant from the California Council on Criminal Justice for a three-year pilot women's correctional program.

Until now, she said, none of the vocational or rehabilitative programs have been made available to women in Marin's jail because of the relatively small number.

Forty per cent of the 80 to 90 women sentenced each year have no high school diploma, said Mrs. Aaron. Half have no marketable skill and one-quarter have no work experience, she added.

Mrs. Aaron is recruiting a full-time coordinator for the program, and two counselors will help in its work.

The program will begin as soon as the staff is hired, probably in about two months, she said.

Swimming Meet Will Open Pool

The Marinwood Community Center swimming pool will open for the season on March 30, with a three-way swimming competition between youngsters living in the neighborhoods of Mary Silviera, Oak View and Lucas Valley schools.

The meet, beginning at 8:30 a.m., will have 18 events classified by entrants' ages, according to Mary C. Davis, pool committee member.

7 WAYS TO PLUG FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION.
You'll save energy if you follow these suggestions:
1. Turn off all lights that are not essential.
2. Lower your furnace thermostat to 68 degrees.
3. Use full loads in dishwashers and clothes dryers.
4. Set your water heater to "normal" or 140 degrees.
5. Turn off TV sets when they're not being watched.
6. Defrost your refrigerator before frost becomes ¼" thick. Thick frost reduces your refrigerator's cooling ability and makes it run inefficiently.
7. Be sure your range and oven are turned off when not in use.

MARCH TO MEXICO

Young Hikers Hope To Build Orphanage

By ERNEST MURPHY

Five young hikers are resting at the Methodist Church of Mill Valley tonight after scaling Mount Tamalpais with full packs.

While most amateur footsloggers would consider that enough action for a month, this particular group will be up early tomorrow for more walking — 1,700 miles more.

The hikers are on the road to raise money for an orphanage on a wealthy Mexican's rancho in San Cristobal de las Casas, farther south in the mountains near the Guatemalan border. They began Sunday in Santa Rosa.

Along the way the group will solicit pledges from individuals and businesses to pay them by the mile. "We've already got pledges of anywhere from a half-cent to a dollar a mile," 27-year-old Stephen D. Raymond of Santa Rosa said. He will become the orphanage's director once the walk is completed.

Raymond says he hit upon the hike idea while working with youth groups in Santa Rosa, where the same fund-raising device has been used with some success.

Establishment of an orphanage was prompted when Raymond and John Cummings saw hundreds of homeless children while on a trip into the Sierra Madre mountains several years ago when the two were students at Sonoma State College.

Cummings, 32, of San Mateo, will help build the orphanage and is already in San Cristobal working on it.

Hikers making the journey with Raymond include Ward W. Hall and Kent Matowitz, both of Santa Rosa; Stephen Sesser of Modesto and Dennis Clark of Roanoke, Va. All are friends of Raymond and Cummings and offered to help.

While the land and buildings have already been donated, funds from the hike will be used to outfit the facility with the furniture and equipment needed to feed, clothe and house the homeless children it will serve.

"What happened," Raymond says, "is that we went down to Guachochic to see the Easter Week celebration of the Tarahumara Indians, a primitive mountain tribe which hasn't had much contact with the outside world.

"There were all these kids — they didn't have homes, they didn't have medicine. Six months later I decided to go down and just live with them for a while."

While in Guachochic, Raymond got the idea of starting an orphanage. The notion wasn't exactly alien to him, since he holds a bachelor's degree in child psychology. He is also the founder of the South Park Youth Organization for disadvantaged Santa Rosa youngsters.

Raymond and Cummings began planning the Guachochic orphanage.

Then about a year ago, they were offered the use of the rancho in San Cristobal.

By that time, planning was already under way for the hike to Guachochic, so that village remains the destination today.

Raymond said the decision to work in San Cristobal was influenced by an earthquake there last year. "It literally moved a mountain," he recalls. "The indians around San Cristobal lived in a valley drained by a river system that runs underground part of the way. When the quake came it blocked the channel and flooded the entire valley and the town.

The hikers hope to raise $50,000 during their walk and have already gotten pledges of between $5,000 and $10,000 Raymond said.

They hope to average 20 miles a day as they follow the Pacific Coast to Tijuana. From there they will go southeast to Guachochic, where they hope to arrive sometime in June.

The group will depend on local churches for shelter as they stop most nights, with only five nights spent under the stars.

The 31-mile march they finished today, which began at Point Reyes Station, is the longest day's journey of the entire trip.

The group has formed Orphan Inc., a nonprofit organization headquartered at 2360 Grahn Drive, Santa Rosa, to accept pledges.

Raymond said that after the walk is finished, contributors will be billed for the amount they offered.

Gunn Appointed Warden At Folsom

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Jacob B. Gunn was appointed warden of Folsom State Prison yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Gunn, 47, is a 24-year veteran of the California prison system. He has been acting warden at Folsom since the resignation last June of Walter Craven.

Dance Will Aid School Groups

An dance for adults to benefit the Redwood High School marching band, drill team, song girls and majorettes will be held March 30 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the St. Patrick's Catholic Church gymnasium, Larkspur.

The dance is sponsored by the school's music department. Music will be provided by a group of music teachers and the school's jazz ensemble.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Sandy Walters, 150 Via La Paz, Greenbrae, or Gary B. Walker of the school's music department.

Owner Of Lincoln Hotel Is Told To Shape It Up

The owner of an old hotel in San Rafael, who said "already yesterday I would like to stop being a slum landlord," last night was given an ultimatum by the city council to bring the hotel up to building code standards.

Dr. Gideon Sorokin, a veterinarian whose speech is peppered with colorful phrases, was told that the Lincoln Hotel must have fire hazards taken care of within 45 days and that he must correct other deficiencies within a reasonable period of time.

At the outset of the discussion, City Mgr. William J. Bielser told the city council that he was "contemplating bringing the hotel into court as a 'house of ill repute.'"

Sorokin, however, blamed conditions and inhabitants of the "old lady," as he called the hotel at 805 Fourth Street, on "society" and "welfare."

Sorokin, who said he has a partner in the building which he bought about 18 months ago, added, "You can repair that place until doomsday," and "if the lowest form of humanity lives there," rundown conditions will continue.

For some months, city officials have complained about the hotel, used as a residence for a number of persons. Inadequate fire escapes, lack of fire resistive walls in halls, inoperative plumbing fixtures and lack of general maintenance have been cited.

Sorokin claimed tenants have destroyed improvements he had installed in the hotel, but he was told by Councilman Lawrence E. Mulryan not to blame his renters for the sorry conditions.

Sorokin was threatened with abatement proceedings if he doesn't correct the faults, although he told the council, "You don't want the Lincoln Hotel closed up. You don't want a ghost town" in downtown San Rafael.

Sorokin finally was told he must correct fire hazards within 45 days and that if he and city staff can't agree on a time schedule for other repairs, the matter will come back before the city council.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

PROTEST — Postponed for 90 days hearing of protests in connection with formation and acquisitions in a levee maintenance project in East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District.

ZONING — Agreed to rezone property at 1201 Andersen Drive owned by Kurt Kissman from unclassified to planned development.

TELEVISION — Called for applicants to serve on a citizens committee in connection with the granting of local television time to Marin Community Video Association.

COMMISSION — Agreed to expand the parks and recreation commission from five to seven members with Mayor C. Paul Bettini and Councilman Fred E. Jensen voting no.

APPEAL — Denied a further hearing on a proposed multiple residential development at 302 Belle Avenue which had been turned down by a tied vote last month.

PARK — Turned down an offer by Mary Lou Jacobson of San Rafael for a parcel of property at the end of Pacheco Street which she had suggested as a small park. Staff members said the property had "potentially dangerous erosion problems" and would require a large expenditure of money to correct them.

RAISE — Granted 5 per cent cost of living pension increases to retired city employees.

Two Arrested In Car Theft

Two Santa Rosa youths, 16 and 17, were arrested on suspicion of armed robbery and vehicle theft yesterday, San Rafael police have reported.

Police said two youths pulled a gun on Gary Mills of 269 Third Street as he arrived home about 1 a.m. yesterday, taking his wallet and fleeing in his car. Novato police stopped the car 10 minutes later as it sped along Atherton Avenue.

The youths were booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall. Their names were withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Post Of Treasury May Be Offered

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Paula F. Hawkins, who ran on a penny-pinching platform for Public Service Commissioner three years ago, is going to Washington to be interviewed for a job with the Nixon administration, possibly secretary of the treasury.

Mrs. Hawkins said she has appointments at the White House and the treasury, but does not know for sure why she was summoned to Washington by a call from a White House staff member.

LIFE AFTER 65

Keep Active Intellectual Life

By JACK GOURLAY
Associated Press
(Seventh of 10 articles)

The search for the Fountain of Youth continues. The Chinese thought they had discovered it in the roots of ginger, and the French laid claim to it in tincture of aloe. No one really knows the formula for the "elixir of youth."

But most psychologists and gerontologists agree that there is a formula for keeping young: an active intellectual life.

Many of us look for poor, inadequate substitutes in our rebellion against aging. We try through the way we dress, the use of beauty aids, the search for "miracle" drugs, all in vain attempts to look 35 at age 65. If we let this concern for lost youth become an obsession — and it's all too easy to do — we may be headed for severe emotional problems when we come face to face with old age.

It would be much wiser were we to live with reality and enter the later years on a more stable program of intellectual growth and development.

Keeping young in spirit by exercising the intellect is the answer. Solon, the Athenian statesman, put it this way when asked his secret of long life: "Learn some new thing every day."

There is much wisdom in this because what we don't use we lose, and it is only by using our brain that we will be able to preserve our mental functions which are so necessary to the enjoyment of life.

It is never too late to learn. The records of our adult education centers and our colleges and universities show that millions of people age 65 and over have acquired new knowledge and skills which they are parlaying into greater enjoyment of leisure time.

The idea that older people can't learn new things, according to psychologists, is a myth perpetrated on older people by themselves. They claim older people feel that since they have been around, have seen, felt, and experienced "everything" there is to experience they have developed a "know-it-all" attitude. What they really mean, according to the experts, is that they are afraid of competing with younger students in our youth-worshiping society. Older people also have deep-rooted fears they won't be able to retain newly-acquired knowledge and they have no real interest in learning something new. Given sufficient interest, motives and self-confidence, the experts are convinced the older person can continue to learn and stimulate his intellect if he really wants to, no matter what his age.

Dr. Jean Palus, the Belgian psychologist, believes that as we mature and receive motivation, we enjoy a corresponding gain in learning capacity and insight.

He said: "The 40s and 50s and later years, when correctly entered, open the way for the well-balanced individual to new kinds of experiences, meditations and accomplishments which are entirely beyond the possibilities of young persons."

But, Dr. Palus pointed out, many older people fail to make anything of their later years. He blamed American society in particular for its callous attitude toward older people because of its stress on youth-oriented characteristics.

Too many of us develop "hangups" as we grow older. One of these concerns memory and wisdom. We are afraid younger generations will scoff at our advice. We fear this because we think contemporary discoveries and scientific advances have made us obsolete in the eyes of our children. What we fail to understand is that we may have a greater understanding of the fundamental facts of life.

The older person's greatest contribution to today's society may be based on memory — the accumulation of experience — and intellect — our acquired wisdom. These assets, combined with humanity, humility and humor, make us something special in today's world. When one has these, he has the greatest assets of old age.

How we use it, with our family, friends, or our community depends entirely on us, a philosophy expressed by Grandma Moses in her autobiography, in a deceptively simple statement:

"I look back on my life like a good day's work, it was done and I feel satisfied with it. I was happy and contented. I knew nothing better and made the best out of what life offered. And life is what we make it, always has been, always will be."

(Tomorrow: To Move or Not to Move. . .)

Sigg Appointed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Robert W. Sigg, a Republican, has been appointed to a $37,615 a year post on the Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board.

ACTIVE — No one has found the Fountain of Youth. But if, after 65, you are searching for ways just to look young you may wind up with serious emotional problems. It's far better to lead an active intellectual life.

Study Of Golden Gate Operation Will Be Made

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A study of how good a job the Golden Gate Bridge District is doing in providing transit was ordered yesterday by the Assembly.

Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, authored the resolution (HR 113) after the district directors hiked tolls last month. It was approved unanimously by the lower house, which was all it needed to take effect.

The study will be made by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post. The resolution asks that Post make an interim report by Oct. 1 and a final report by Jan. 6 next year.

ALMANAC

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Today is Tuesday, March 19, the 78th day of 1974 with 287 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus an) Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

Famous Scottish explorer David Livingstone was born March 19, 1813.

Also on this day in history:

In 1906, the new Hotel Traymore in Atlantic City, N.J., published this advertisement: "Twenty-five private baths, capacity 450."

In 1917, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the Adamson Act was constitutional. It provided for an eight-hour working day on American railroads.

In 1920, the Versailles treaty establishing the League of Nations was rejected by the U.S. Senate.

In 1942, all men in the United States between the ages of 45 and 64 — about 13 million — were ordered to register with their draft boards for non-military duty.

A thought for the day: Three-time presidential nominee William Jennings Bryan, born on this day in 1860, once said: "The humblest of all the land, when clad in the armor of a righteous cause, is stronger than all the hosts of error."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Cold, Hard Look At Finesses Can Bring You Status Of Expert

How do you feel about finesses? Be careful, for your answer may establish your rank as a bridge player. If you welcome finesses like long-lost brothers, you are only an average player at best. If you treat finesses coldly, ignoring them as long as possible, you may be an expert.

Opening lead — ♠ K

WHAT NEXT?

You win the first trick with the ace of spades, force out the ace of hearts and ruff the spade return. Now you draw the last trump. What next?

If you hasten to take the club finesse, your expert friends will raise a cool eyebrow and curl the upper lip.

You must draw the second round of trumps from the South hand. This leaves you in position to lead the deuce of diamonds toward the dummy.

EXTRA CHANCES

Playing the diamonds first gives you two extra chances for the contract. West may have the singleton or the doubleton ace of diamonds.

If West's ace of diamonds is singleton, he will have to play it at once. Later, you will cash the king of diamonds and get to dummy to discard a club on the queen of diamonds.

As the cards lie, West does not have the singleton ace of diamonds. He plays low, and dummy's queen wins. You return a diamond, and West must win with the ace.

SECOND CHANCE

Now your second chance works. West must lead a club, since a spade would allow you to ruff in dummy and discard a club from your hand.

When West leads a club, you play low from dummy. East's queen is trapped, and you make your contract.

What happens if West is able to lead a third diamond? Your postponement has cost you nothing. You can still fall back on the club finesse.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

The hand is worth a response, and there is no harm in mentioning the spades.

MR. and MRS. MARIN

Are We Competitive? What About Our Service?

Two Important Questions When Buying Your New Car

Your Marin County auto dealer can put money in your pocket. He has lower overhead, lower sales tax, no gimmicks and you as a next door customer to think of. Compare the above, to dealers "ACROSS the BRIDGE" and you've answered the question. Then stop by and see one of us and we'll prove it to you.

You have a big investment in your new car and when, and if, something does need repair, you want fast, convenient, reliable local service that you can depend on. We are your neighbors, our business is concentrated in Marin. We want your business . . . and strive to deserve it.

Public Notice

REVISED

NOTICE OF DATE FIXED FOR SUBMITTING ARGUMENTS ON SAN ANSELMO REVENUE LIMIT ELECTION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at an election to be held in the SAN ANSELMO SCHOOL DISTRICT OF Marin County, California, on June 4, 1974, there will be submitted to the voters the following measure:

Shall there be authorized an increase of the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance to be effective in the San Anselmo School District for an indefinite period, commencing with the 1974-75 school year, in an amount to be determined each year by the revenue per unit of average daily attendance which will be derived from a tax levy of twenty cents ($.20) per one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property, the revenues of which are to be used for general operating purposes?

The revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance will be increased hereby during the 1974-75 school year from approximately $1130.04 to $1189.48, resulting from an increase to the maximum tax rate of the San Anselmo School District of twenty cents ($.20) which for fiscal year 1974-75 is an estimated increase from $2.251 to $2.451 for each one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property.

Arguments for or against this measure may be submitted to the Elections Department, Room 152, Hall of Justice, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, not later than March 29, 1974, which has been determined by the County Clerk to be a reasonable date based upon the time reasonably necessary to prepare and submit the arguments. No argument shall exceed 300 words in length. Arguments may be submitted by the Governing Board of the District or a member or members authorized by it, any individual voter, any bona fide association of citizens or any combination of such voters and citizens.

Pursuant to Sections 1461 and 1463 of the Education Code, one argument for and one argument against each measure will be selected for printing and distribution to the voters with the card notice of election. Preference and priority in selection will be given to arguments of the following, in the order named:

1. A member or members authorized by the Governing Board.
2. Bona fide associations of citizens.
3. Individual voters.

All arguments submitted must be verified. The proper form of verification is available from the County Clerk.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

CITY OF FAIRFAX, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City of Fairfax will receive sealed bids at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Fairfax, California, on or before 10:00 a.m. on the 8th day of April 1974 for the furnishing of all labor, materials, and services required for the 1973 STORM DAMAGE REPAIR PROJECT, ARROYO ROAD.

Each bid shall be made in accordance with the plans, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefor, now on file at the office of Ben C. Albritton, City Engineer, 35 Mitchell Blvd., San Rafael, where they may be examined and copies thereof be obtained upon payment of $10.00 per set, which will not be refunded. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished by the City Engineer, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check, currency or bid bond, equal to ten percent of the aggregate amount of the bid, which amount shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract, if awarded him, and will file the contract bonds required within fifteen days after notice that his bid has been accepted.

The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any irregularity in any bid received.

Bidders are notified that, pursuant to law, the City Council has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages and rates in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, and the prevailing rate so determined is on file at the office of the City Clerk and incorporated by reference herein. It shall be mandatory that all persons employed in the execution of the contract be paid not less than said specific wages and rates, and that existing labor agreements, relative to overtime, holidays, and other special provisions, be recognized.

Bids received by the City Clerk will be opened and read publicly at the time, date and place above specified, and will thereafter be tabulated and submitted to the City Council for consideration.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Assembly In Action To Help Stations To Obtain Gasoline

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to help franchise service station operators obtain gasoline from more than one major oil company won Assembly approval yesterday by a wide margin, 58-6.

The measure (AB3101) would make it illegal for an oil company as franchisor to require the franchise dealers to buy only tires, batteries and other automotive accessories sold only by the company.

Dealers would be authorized to seek gasoline from other sources when the supplier was unable or refused to provide fuel.

A violation would subject the company to a maximum civil fine of $50,000 for each offense. Companies would also be liable in the event "pressure" was applied against the dealers.

Assemblyman Jack Fenton, D-Montebello, sponsored the measure which now goes to the Senate.

Fenton argued the bill was necessary to provide the "maximum quality of gasoline available to the public and to prevent increased closings of gasoline dealers because of a lack of supplies."

BALLOT NAMES

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill that would require a special warning to voters when candidates with identical names run for the same office cleared the Assembly yesterday and was sent to the Senate by a vote of 54-16.

When such a case occurred it would require this warning on the ballot:

Assemblyman Jim Keysor, D-Granada Hills, sponsored the measure (AB3191) which was designed to apply to the June primary.

BLIND AID

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An extra $18 a month would be made available to blind welfare recipients to feed their guide dogs under a bill introduced yesterday by Assemblyman Eugene A. Chappie, R-Cool.

The measure (AB3445) would also provide a special allowance of $25 per visit for payment of veterinary bills. There would be a limit of two visits a year.

WELFARE HELP

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Welfare recipients who fail to receive their checks on time would benefit from a $5 million "urgency" bill introduced yesterday in the Assembly.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, sponsored the measure (AB3444) which would take effect immediately upon signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Bagley filed the proposal in response to problems that developed when the federal government took over mailing welfare checks to an estimated 500,000 recipients on Jan. 1. Many of the blind, disabled and elderly failed to receive their checks on time.

Under the bill, the state would advance money to local county welfare departments in the form of loans to the recipients.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
THE GOVERNOR

Folsom — Named acting warden Jacob B. Gunn as permanent warden at Folsom Prison with a salary of $31,488 a year.

THE ASSEMBLY
Approved

Gasoline — Authorizes independent franchise filling station operators to buy gasoline from other suppliers if their company is unable or refuses to supply them. (AB3101-Fenton, D-Montebello. 58-6. To Senate.)

Identical — Requires warning on ballot to voters when two or more candidates with identical names seek the same office. (AB3191-Keysor, D-Granada Hills. 54-16. To Senate.)

Freeway — Directs the state to begin environmental impact report studies for improvement to full freeway standards of Highway 17 from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge to Interstate 80 so construction bids can be called for in 1977-78. (AB2863-Knox, D-Richmond. 67-1. To Senate.)

Introduced

Mileage — Repeals .10 cent per mile limitation on travel allowance of school board members for necessary travel to attend trustee meetings. (AB3426-Chappie, R-Cool.)

Welfare — Appropriates $5 million in state funds for loans to blind, elderly and disabled Californians who failed to receive their benefit checks from federal government. (AB3444-Bagley, R-San Rafael.)

Gasoline — Outlaws sale of gasoline if filling station fails to post prices so as to be visible to a passing motorist. (AB3435-Bannai, R-Gardena.)

THE SENATE
Approved

Sears — Calls on Sears, Roebuck Co. and the Department Store Employees Union to negotiate an end to the seven-month-old Sears strike in San Francisco. (SCR103-Moscone, D-San Francisco. 22-10. To Assembly.)

Wild — Establishes a California wilderness system for certain state-owned lands. (SB1498-Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek. 25-5. To Assembly.)

Crib — Adds suspected crib death syndrome to list of deaths a coroner must investigate. (AB409-Crown, D-Alameda. 28-0. To Assembly.)

Defeated

Noise — Revises law prohibiting operation, sale or offer for sale of certain motorboats whose engines emit loud noise. (AB977-Chappie, R-Cool. 3-27. Reconsideration granted.)

Introduced

Filipino — Requires each state agency and department to list Filipinos as Filipinos for any statistical tabulation of minority groups. (SB1870-Marks, R-San Francisco.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bone Tissue Constantly Active And Changing During Your Life

Most of us think of bone as inactive tissue that could be likened to stone or hard wood. Actually, bone tissue is very much alive. Throughout life, fragments of bone are added and removed from the skeleton. In other words, it is constantly being built up and broken down. Certain bone diseases develop when this balance is disturbed, leading to a thickened skeleton or a decrease in the amount of bone present.

Osteoporosis, one of the most common bone disorders, is characterized by a mineral deficit that may be as high as 50 per cent. This loss of density usually involves the weight-bearing parts of the skeleton and can be demonstrated with X-rays. There are many causes but age plays a role in that most victims are older persons, particularly women after the menopause.

THE VICTIM usually tells of having increasing backache, often described as stabbing in nature and aggravated by bending. In the more severe forms, the upper spine may become stooped (dowager's hump) with changes in height. This is caused by a loss of vertical height in the vertebrae which bear the brunt of the changes.

Now and then a minor injury is followed by a fracture of the porous bone. In such instances, there is some question as to whether the fracture followed the fall or the victim fell after the fracture developed. Spontaneous fractures of these kinds may involve the hip, arm, or spine. One or more vertebrae may collapse (crush fracture). The latter is suspected whenever back pain develops suddenly. These fractures require an orthopedic brace or corset, analgesics, and physiotherapy.

THE BASIC treatment of osteoporosis involves diet and hormones. Calcium is needed and the daily diet should contain at least two glasses of whole or skim milk supplemented with 1,000 units of vitamin D. Calcium carbonate salts (1 to 1.5 gm.) may be added. Some physicians also recommend sodium fluoride to stimulate bone formation. The aim of all therapy is to prevent further bone loss and to add new bone to the skeleton. Estrogen hormones in small doses help to reverse the process. However, these products must be used for a long period of time.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer medical questions by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902. Telephone inquiries will not be answered.

HAIR GROWTH

J. C. writes: Is there any way to make hair grow faster? I'm 62 years old.

REPLY

There is no magic formula for this purpose. Wigs have become popular and if you have the money, you could get one that overnight makes you look like Harpo Marx. Inositol may be helpful.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources but the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Sonoma Dam Work Delay Is Sought

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Environmental Law Fund of Novato has gone to court here to try to delay construction work on Warm Springs Dam while an appeal is pending on another suit against the water project.

Joseph A. Forest, Novato attorney, late Friday asked Sonoma County Superior Court permission for the environmental group to intervene in the suit brought by Clement E. Vanoni, a neighbor of the dam project. Hearing on Forest's motion and his request that the court halt work on the project until Vanoni's suit is heard, will be held March 25.

Forest is representing conservationists Marilyn Goode of Occidental and John Taylor of Healdsburg. He said his clients were being unfairly taxed to help build the dam without ever being given opportunity to vote on the obligation. He also will argue that the Sonoma County Water Agency's 1964 contract with the Army Corps of Engineers to build the dam is invalid because the original $12 million price tag has risen to $30 million to $40 million.

Vanoni's suit never came to trial ir Sonoma Superior Court; it was rejected on a demurrer and is now awaiting appeal hearing, Forest said.

Film On Wildlife Of Tennessee Set

The Wildlife of Tennessee, which includes nearly every variety of wildlife found from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada, will be the subject of the last of the Audubon Wildlife film series Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

Limit Sought On TV Commercials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like those who beef about the weather, many gripe about TV commercials interrupting their shows without trying to do something about it. Not so in the case of John Banzhaf's law class.

Three of his students, all enrolled in his course on legal activism, are petitioning the Federal Communications Commission to limit TV commercial time to eight minutes per hour.

That's 10 minutes fewer than the FCC — which says it has no firm time restrictions for TV commercials — generally allows before it starts giving station licensees the regulatory evil eye.

Banzhaf, 33, a professor at George Washington University, is a man to be reckoned with, as any network official can tell you.

He's the man who, in 1967, filed an FCC petition about TV cigarette ads. It eventually led to a 1970 congressional ban on such ads.

Banzhaf, acting only as an advisor on the latest petition, says it's one of several "final exam" projects.

His students' FCC petition would limit commercial breaks, except in certain cases, to the half-hour and hour, to let viewers enjoy their shows without an advertising blast every 10 or 15 minutes.

It also asks that all advertising be banned from children's weekend program time — 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

The National Association of Broadcasters' TV code currently limits to 12 minutes the advertising and other "non-program" material aired during each hour of weekend children's program time.

It also restricts "non-program material," save for public service spots and promotions for the show being viewed, to 9½ minutes per hour in prime evening time for network-affiliated stations.

There also can't be — in the main body of most programs — any more than two "program interruptions" per half-hour program or four per 60-minute show. Five interruptions are allowed in the case of hour-long variety shows.

Although the NAB claims 531 TV stations as members, only the TV networks and 407 stations subscribe to its TV code, leaving the nation's 300 other commercial TV stations free to do their own advertising thing.

Banzhaf said the petition cites the NAB code's limits on program interruptions and non-program material as the "recognition of a major group that this is a reasonable goal and it should be regulated."

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.
If we're to keep up with the competion in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

A Duplex Dream Goes Up In Smoke

Keith D. Abrahams and Gretchen A. Heneveld of Fairfax dreamed of upgrading a nonconforming duplex at 64 Frustuck Avenue when they bought the home last Nov. 27, but those dreams were shattered a month later when much of the structure was destroyed by fire.

The couple was confronted by another heartache last night as the Fairfax Town Council denied a permit required by the town code to retain the structure as a nonconforming duplex use.

The council's action came on a 2-1-1 vote, Mayor Frank J. Egger dissenting, Priscilla C. Gray abstained.

The couple told the council that they could not afford the home they bought as a duplex if the studio apartment downstairs was not allowed, since they depended on rental income of $115 monthly to help with mortgage payments.

In denying the permit, the council majority cited substandard parking and said the home should be rebuilt as a single-family residence. "I don't think the area can stand it," said Councilman Albert E. Gately, noting the lack of parking on Frustuck Avenue.

"We're two human beings and we're getting caught up in this bureaucracy... All we want to do is upgrade the parcel," said Heneveld.

Mayor Egger said such second units are an important source of lower income housing in the town. Mrs. Gray said she abstained to prevent a deadlock on the matter.

The planning commission had approved the duplex use, but passed the matter to the council to resolve parking concerns.

The Fairfax Town Council Also:

CAR — Said an abandoned car near 29 Hill Avenue will be abated.

HILLSIDE DRIVE — Approved an appeal by Sam Vahey of planning commission denial of a permit for a home at 204 Hillside Drive, on condition that detailed soils tests show the hillside lot to be stable.

SIGN — Approved a roof sign at Gallagher Sturiale Realtors, 1573 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, on condition it blend in with the building.

BIKE RACES — Told the Velo Club Tamalpais to work with town police on a proposal for a September bicycle race in town.

EXAM — Eased requirements for men who wish to take the civil service firemen's exam to allow four Fairfax volunteer firemen to take the exam, to be given by the city to fill a vacancy in the fire department. Mayor Egger opposed the move, saying standards should be beefed up, not downgraded.

VACANCIES — Noted that citizens may apply to fill seats on the city council, the board of review, the parks and recreation commission, the design and environmental review board, and the performing arts board.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Monday to meet in closed session with Fairfax Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe, suspended last week for his part in a post-election brawl.

Cow Exposes Man To Rabies

According to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, public health officer, the heifer at the Grossi Ranch, 3600 Novato Boulevard, became ill March 10 and died two days later.

Subsequent tests on the animal's brain by the Sonoma County Health Laboratory showed the cow was rabid.

Gunn Picked As Permanent Folsom Chief

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Jacob B. Gunn has been named permanent warden at Folsom Prison.

The appointment was announced yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Gunn, 47, has been acting warden since June when former warden Walter E. Craven resigned to become deputy director of corrections.

Gunn, a veteran of 24 years with the state corrections system, will receive a salary of $31,488 a year.

He was classification staff representative at the headquarters office for two years ending in 1967 and has worked at the Lancaster, Chino, Tracy and Soledad facilities.

Strip Mine Sale Ruled Legal One

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today upheld a lower court ruling that acquisition of a strip-mining coal company by a subsidiary of General Dynamics Corp. did not violate antitrust laws.

By a 5-4 vote, the court held that the government did not prove its allegation that the sale of United Electric Coal Companies to Material Service Corp., the General Dynamics subsidiary, substantially decreased competition in the production and sale of coal.

Associate Justice Potter Stewart, who wrote the majority opinion, said the court made its decision because the government based its point on improper data.

"We agree with the district court that the government's reliance on production statistics in the context of this case was insufficient," Stewart wrote.

The majority based its decision on a determination that United's coal reserves were so low that its potential to compete with other producers was far weaker than the government contended.

Associate Justice William O. Douglas, who wrote the dissenting opinion, said the decision was based on "a deep-seated judicial bias against (a provision) of the Clayton (antitrust) Act."

He said the case should have been referred back to district court, where further study of production statistics should have been made.

The court also reversed an appeals court decision and set new guidelines for seeking declaratory relief from federal courts. The case involved a Georgia man who sought a declaratory judgment against the owners of an Atlanta shopping center after they threatened to have him arrested for handing out antiwar handbills in 1970.

"The Court of Appeals was in error when it ruled that a failure to demonstrate irreparable injury —a traditional prerequisite to injunctive relief — precluded the granting of declaratory relief," the court said. "Congress plainly intended declaratory relief to act as an alternative to the strong medicine of the injunction and to be utilized to test the constitutionality of state criminal statutes in cases where injunctive relief would be unavailable," the court said.

Drug Program Option Is Given In Forgery Case

A San Rafael man, who pleaded guilty to cashing 10 stolen forged checks for a total of $1,300, was sentenced yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a year in jail.

But Judge Charles Read Best told Leonard Porter, 22, that he may satisfy the jail term by completing a drug rehabilitation program and remaining on probation for three years.

Porter admitted passing the bad checks in August and September after they were stolen in the burglary of a business.

According to a probation report, Porter has been an occasional drug user since age 18.

WFL Takes Safeguards

NEW YORK (UPI) — The World Football League, leaving no stone unturned in an effort to insure it has enough player personnel to begin operations this summer, today took further safeguards to see that no crumbs which fall from the National Football League table go to waste.

Of its latest draft, which again looks to the NFL, a WFL spokesman said, "This is a WFL draft of NFL teams which establishes draft rights to NFL players not previously drafted by the WFL and who are released by the NFL after having reported to camp."

The 12 teams in the WFL each drafted two NFL teams. The idea is to avoid a market place scramble should players become available who were overlooked in yesterday's 40-round draft of NFL players.

The Washington franchise of the WFL drafted New England and Baltimore of the NFL. Elsewhere it was: Toronto, Green Bay-Detroit; Philadelphia, Los Angeles-Washington; Portland, Dallas-St. Louis; Florida, Houston-Philadelphia; Detroit, Minnesota-Buffalo; Birmingham, Atlanta-Miami; Southern California, San Francisco-Denver; Chicago, Cincinnati-Cleveland; Houston, Kansas City-New Orleans; Hawaii, San Diego-Oakland; New York, Pittsburgh-New York Jets.

Yesterday the WFL went for the big names in the NFL. Blithely and boldly, the teams picked names like Joe Namath, Jim Plunkett, Calvin Hill, and the three biggest stars of the Miami Dolphins: Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield.

While they were at it, the WFL upstarts didn't forget the Canadian Football League, either. They sprinkled their selection list with the names of many of the best north-of-the-border players, too.

And they even tossed out ominous little hints like pointing out they didn't mention in the draft the names of players they've already signed — players who have played out the option in their NFL contracts and therefore are free as birds. The New York entry of the WFL, for instance, claims to have lines on 50 players — not by any means all NFLers, of course.

However, the New York team, the Stars, did take the occasion to announce the signing of one option-free player — tackle John Elliott, for seven years the "Big Bad John" of the New York Jets' defense. Elliott had made no secret of his dissatisfaction with the Jets.

The WFL didn't pretend that it expects to swipe all of the NFLers it named. League officials pointed out that naming these players establishes the lines of communication for any of the players who feel like jumping in the future — they know whom they can dicker with, and it prevents squabbles between WFL clubs.

A number of the NFL players named early were players like Elliott who may be nearing the end of the trail, or are openly dissatisfied with the money they're getting or the chance they have of moving up on their NFL team.

For example, there was quarterback Craig Morton of the Dallas Cowboys, who has had to take a back seat in Texas to Roger Staubach — the Birmingham WFL team picked him in the second round. Quarterback Pete Beathard of Kansas City, something of a similar case, was named on the first round by Houston. Another quarterback, Randy Johnson of the New York Giants who even went home for a time during the 1973 season when he thought he was being overlooked, was a sixth-round choice by Hawaii.

Csonka, Kiick, and Warfield all were chosen by the same team — Toronto, which had announced before that it intended to do exactly that.

Professional Tour Of Water Skiers

The International Association of Tournament Water Skiers, something Mike Suyderhoud of Petaluma has been working toward for the past couple of years, has become a reality.

Suyderhoud has won just about every water ski title there is to win. He's had the world title four times, has 15 national titles and is the current Masters champ. When he started in the sport of water skiing, the titles and trophies that went with them were fine; but they don't buy groceries. That's why he and the other skiers have been working toward formation of a professional group of their very own.

MIKE SUYDERHOUD

Starting with the California International Cup tournament a few years ago in Berkeley, the tournaments became professional, the skiers doing their thing for cash, not shiny pieces of hardware. With the success of the Berkeley event the skiers started thinking about having more tournaments, on a scheduled tour. When Suyderhoud wasn't jumping off a ramp or slaloming through buoys, he was putting in time with this idea.

Now, as chairman of the IATWS organizing committee, Mike has announced the official formation of the association.

"THE GOAL of the IATWS is to put together a tour of top caliber, spectator appealing cash prize water ski tournaments, much like golf, tennis, bowling track and snow skiing," said Suyderhoud.

There are already three cash prize tournaments scheduled for 1974 on the IATWS sanction list. There will be the Marine World International Jumping Championships June 1-2 in Redwood City; the Saucier International Cup, July 7-8 in Minneapolis, Minn.; and Western Wood California International Cup July 27-28 in Berkeley. Also in the works is a tournament in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, in late August or early September.

"Water skiing is an exciting and highly competitive sport that the public is just not aware of," said Suyderhoud. "Top water skiers are as dedicated to their sport, are as trained and capable and work as hard as any athlete."

TO STRESS his point, Mike points out there are more than 14 million active water skiers in the U.S., "more than three times the number of active snow skiers."

The 24-year-old Suyderhoud should make a dollar or two on the water ski tour since he has been so consistent throughout his career. That dates back to when he was a 13-year-old practicing long hours at Mira Monte Marina in Novato. He lived in San Anselmo at the time but moved to Petaluma when he enrolled at Sonoma State College. He's now graduated from college and runs a water ski school at Shasta Lake.

Charter members and organizers of the IATWS are the best in the field. They include George Athans, Allen and Robbie Kempton, Bob and Kris LaPoint, Bruce Martin, Rick McCormick, Leroy Burnett, Lisa St. John and Liz Allan Shetter.

Between Petaluma, Shasta Lake and Oswego, Ore., Mike will be doing a lot of traveling. I guess he'll have to siphon the gas out of the tow boats to keep up the gas supply in his car.

Redwood Remains Unbeaten In Tennis

Redwood High School improved this year's record to 4-0 and extended its undefeated streak to 59 matches yesterday with a 7-0, non-league tennis victory over visiting Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa.

Cappelletti Influenced By Family Touch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Cappelletti, who said he didn't want to carry the World Football League on his shoulders, took perhaps $250,000 less to sign his contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

The Heisman Trophy-winning running back from Penn State told a news conference yesterday in Ram owner Carroll Rosenbloom's office that the family personality of the Ram organization was a key factor in his decision.

No figures were released but the four-year contract may be worth $250,000. Including bonus. There was no clause that guarantees him a spot on the roster.

A no-cut, no-trade "you're-the-franchise" three-year contract worth more than $500,000 was offered by Philadelphia of the WFL, said Jerry Kapstein, Cappelletti's attorney.

"Because I won the Heisman Trophy," said the 21-year-old Cappelletti, "people get the attitude that I have to be the best player on the field. I'm happy to get in the situation where I'll get a chance to break in like anyone else.

"It's similar to Penn State, more of a family thing," he said of the Ram organization. "I didn't expect to see it in the pros."

Cappelletti said playing with the Rams relieves him of outside pressures. At Philadelphia, he would be expected to be a superstar from the opening kickoff of his first pro game, he said.

Kapstein said Philadelphia and Los Angeles were asked to make final offers last week, and both did so Friday. "They were locked into their final offers," he said, stressing that Cappelletti did not want to play one against the other.

"The money was substantially less," Kapstein said. "We're not creating any new horizons. It is a traditional contract for a first-round running back drafted in the NFL."

"If I want to play, I have to work for it," said Cappelletti, a 6-foot-1, 217-pounder who rushed for 2,639 yards in two seasons for the Nittany Lions.

Willoughby On Mound Vs. Padres

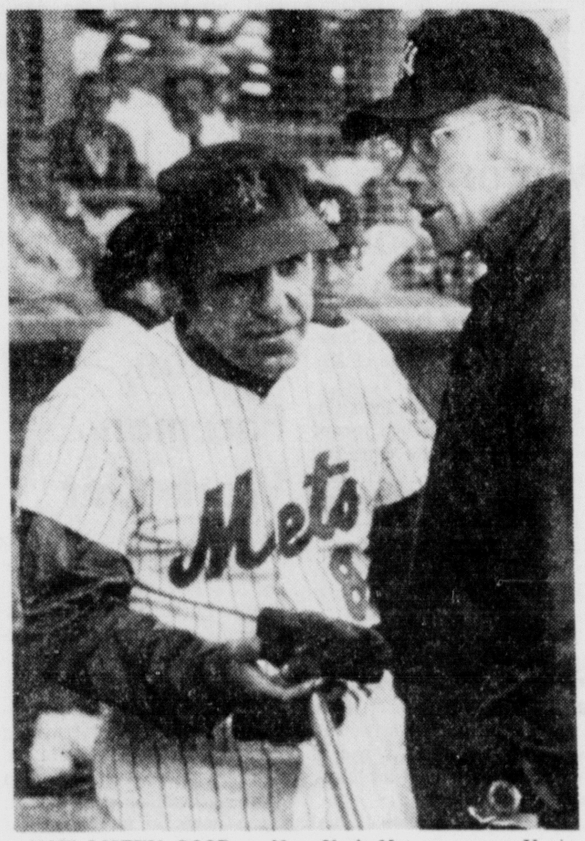

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jim Willoughby pitches today for ailing Ron Bryant as the San Francisco Giants take on the San Diego Padres in exhibition baseball action.

Bryant, the National League's only 20-game winner last season with 24, will be out for at least eight more days. A swimming pool accident last Friday required 25 stitches.

"It'll be Jim Willoughby and Charlie Williams against San Diego," manager Charlie Fox said yesterday, "and I'd like to go with Jim for five innings and Charlie for four. We'll use the bullpen in the very late going only if we have to win the game."

Bryant, meanwhile, is hoping to avoid infection and begin throwing again in less than two weeks.

"Well, what's done is done," he said after he gashed his right side against the edge of the swimming pool. "All I can do is promise to try to get back again as soon as I can."

Singer Pride Is A Hit With Rangers

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Earl Weaver and Billy Martin, two of baseball's more active brains, have had some differences before but they weren't going to get into any hassle over Charley Pride.

That's right, Charley Pride, the country singer, who not only plays pretty good guitar but also swings a hot bat now and then.

Pride played professionally in the minors before going into show business and the innovative Martin came up with the bright idea of using him as the Texas Rangers' designated hitter in yesterday's ball game with the Baltimore Orioles.

"It was perfectly okay with me," says Weaver. "They can try out who they want in spring training. Besides, Pride isn't exactly a humpty. He has played ball before and he can handle himself all right.

The country singer didn't do badly at all against Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer, going 1-for-2 against him and singling sharply up the middle in his bow-out appearance, but that didn't help the Rangers much in a 14-2 walloping by the Orioles.

Mets 1 Yankees 0

Jon Matlack, Bob Apodaca, and Steve Simpson three-hitted the Yanks. George Medich blanked the Mets for five frames but failure to make a double play on Don Hahn's grounder to shortstop in the eighth inning cost the Yanks the game as Wayne Garrett scored from third.

Dodgers 13 Twins 5

Bill Buckner's four hits the Dodger barrage against four pitchers and Twins lost more than the game when slugger Harman Killebrew dove for a grounder by Von Joshua and came up with a dislocated shoulder that will keep him indefinitely, probably through opening day April 5. L. A. tallied seven in the second and that made Tommy John the winner despite giving up two homers.

A's 6 Indians 3

Indian ace Gaylord Perry hasn't beaten the A's since coming to the A. L. and he didn't do it yesterday either, giving up two runs and taking the loss.

Phils 4, Cincinnati 0

Jesus Hernaiz and Mike Wallace stopped the Red machine with four hits. Jack Billingham, Reds' 19-game winner expected to be the opening day pitcher versus Atlanta and thus the first pitcher to face Hank Aaron this year, took the loss on two-run innings in the fourth and sixth.

Tigers 10 Braves 3

A two-run homer by Jim Northrup in the first inning and a four-run sixth inning featuring a double by Bob Veryzer led the Tigers.

Pitch-Happy Marin Baseballers Prevail

The pitching staffs, heavily armed and dangerous, led the way yesterday as Marin high school baseball teams won five out of the seven games they played.

San Rafael defeated Galileo in San Francisco, 10-1, Drake topped visiting Mission (S.F.), 5-3, Tamalpais squashed McAteer in S.F., 7-0, San Marin downed visiting Napa, 10-4, and Marin Catholic whipped visiting Lincoln (S.F.), 6-1.

Redwood lost to De Anza in Richmond, 3-2, and Novato fell to host Petaluma, 14-5.

Mark Kline of San Rafael (3-1) pitched a one-hitter, striking out 13 and walking six. Kline was a participant in an earlier San Rafael no-hitter which the Bulldogs won by the bizarre score of 8-7.

Craig Saunders and Ray Cinti each had two hits and drove in three runs for San Rafael, Saunders hitting a triple. Kevin Loughlin doubled and tripled for the Bulldogs, and Dave Steele singled three times.

Bill Slaby of Drake (3-3) pitched a two-hitter, striking out 10 and walking three. Warren Pino belted three hits, including a triple, and drove in a run for the Pirates.

John Porter of Tamalpais (3-2) pitched a three-hitter, striking out five and walking one. John Wynn had two hits, including a double, and Jan Lea had a run-scoring double for the Indians.

The 'Cats banged 12 hits themselves — three by Mike Nivens and two by Steve Knudsen, Bob Yetter and Tim Little.

San Marin (3-2) took advantage of seven Napa errors. Allan Davidson and Ken Ronshausen scored three runs each for the Mustangs, Davidson going three for four at the plate.

Novato (1-4) and Petaluma took turns slugging the ball as they combined for 21 hits, six of them doubles.

A's Sustain Hex On Tribe's Perry

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — The Oakland A's hex over Cleveland right-hander Gaylord Perry continued even in the exhibition baseball season yesterday as the world champions defeated the Indians 6-3.

Perry's record since arriving in the American League is 0-4 against the A's. He gave up a run in the third on Bill North's triple and Bert Campaneris's single and one in the fourth on Gene Tenace's single and Pat Bourque's double.

Bourque had two doubles and a single. Reggie Jackson hit his second homer of the spring with North on base with a single. The blow came off Indians reliever Ken Sanders.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter got the victory, allowing two runs in five innings. Both scores came in the fifth inning on singles by Frank Duffy and Angel Hermoso. A fielder's choice by John Lowenstein scored Duffy and Lowenstein scored on Oscar Gamble's double.

The Indians got one more run off Darold Knowles in the seventh on a single by Duffy who advanced on a fielder's choice and scored on Gamble's single.

The A's record is 4-5 and the Indians' mark this spring is 5-3.

Weightlifting

MOSCOW — Vladimir Zyzhenkov of Russia set three world records yesterday in the medium heavyweight class at an international weightlifting tournament in Yerevan, the Tass News Agency said. The 25-year-old Zyzhenkov improved his own records in the double set, snatch and jerk.

Zyzhenkov snatched 357 pounds; jerked 484 pounds and achieved a lift of 792 pounds in the double set.

Tennis

TUCSON, Ariz. — Australian John Newcombe, the top-seed in the $150,000 men's professional tennis tournament, yesterday beat American Jeff Borowiak 7-5, 7-6 in the opening round.

NEW YORK — The New York Sets signed Manuel Santana, former Wimbledon and Forest Hills champion, as player-coach for the World Team Tennis League franchise.

TORONTO — Tom Okker of The Netherlands yesterday signed a five-year contract to coach and play with the Toronto-Buffalo franchise in the World Team Tennis League.

AKRON, Ohio — Second-seeded Virginia Wade of Great Britain yesterday defeated Sally Greer of Miami 6-2, 6-3 in a first-round match of a $50,000 tournament on the Women's Professional Tennis Tour.

Marin Tars Victorious In Baseball

It's getting to be an old story: a strong pitching performance, a last-inning rally, and a baseball victory for College of Marin.

The Tars improved their Camino Norte Conference record to 4-2 yesterday by defeating Santa Rosa, 2-1, at Albert Field for their third straight victory.

Pitcher Don Bianchini gave Marin its third straight complete game as he struck out six, walked five and allowed five hits.

The Tars, who scored the winning runs in the ninth and 15th innings in their two previous wins, won yesterday's game in the ninth on a two-out triple by John Billings and a two-strike single by Nick Mattos.

Mattos drove in the other run in the seventh with an infield out. A bloop double by Bianchini and a scratch single by Billings put men on first and third, and Billings was stealing on Mattos' grounder, eliminating the possibility of a double play.

FOR UCLA QUINTET

Hostile Crowd Is Expected

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA coach John Wooden says he expects the crowd to be rooting for North Carolina State Saturday when the Bruins meet the Wolf Pack at Greensboro, N.C., in the semifinals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs.

"We are used to hostile crowds," Wooden told a luncheon of the Southern California Basketball Writers' Association yesterday.

"It cannot be any more hostile than South Bend (Notre Dame's hometown)."

The final UPI coaches roll last week ranked North Carolina State No. 1 in the nation and UCLA No. 2, so the game will be of particular interest.

The Bruin coach was asked whether he would take Walton out to rest if Carolina coach Norman Sloan removed his center, Jim Burleson.

"No, that's the time to put the pressure on them," Wooden said.

UCLA beat North Carolina State by 18 points when they first met this season on Dec. 15 at St. Louis.

Wooden said Keith Wilkes would be assigned to try to hold down Carolina's high scoring David Thompson.

"We'll be playing him (Thompson) exactly the same way we did before," Wooden said.

"I never try to put all our eggs in one basket. A good scorer is going to score his points. If you concentrate too much on him, the others will get their share, too. It doesn't help to hold somebody to 10 points and then have three more players score four more points over their average."

A question was raised whether UCLA did not have a tendency to fold up after getting a substantial first-half lead. A case in point was the game last Saturday against Dayton in Tucson, Ariz., in which UCLA blew its advantage and had to go into three overtime periods.

"Dayton had a great second half and I cannot fault our defense," Wooden said. "Most of their shooting was under pressure and they made their shots anyway so you have to credit their offense."

In a brief telephone interview, NCS coach Sloan was asked how his team would defend against Walton.

"There will be no specifical defense of Walton," Sloan said. "We will just play our game and just hope it comes out better than it did last time."

TO GIANTS' CATCHER RADER

Contradictions Are Bothersome

By JACK HANLEY

PHOENIX — Dave Rader sat in the dugout of the Giants at Phoenix Municipal Stadium, pensively watching the rain that washed out the day's spring training drills.

There seemed to be just the suggestion of sadness in his thoughtfulness. Was he troubled?

"Not really," he said. "I was just trying to sort out a few things in my mind. I'm a little confused by contradictions.

"Last year, I had nothing but compliments about my catching until contract time. Then I was told I was a second string catcher and might be traded.

"I know what my defensive record was last season and I'm making no apologies for it. It was .991 plus. Only three other regular catchers (Joe Ferguson, Johnny Bench and Randy Hundley) had better defensive marks.

"Five passed balls charged to me were the fewest by any regular catcher in the National League."

Rader said he thought his defensive work behind the plate merited an increase in his $25,000 salary. He readily admitted he had no basis on which to argue for a raise in his offensive contributions. In fact, his batting average of .259 in 1972 dropped 30 points in 1973.

"Yet, I was told early last year, after I caught every one of the first 39 games and my batting average dipped to .192, not to worry about my hitting, just concentrate on catching. In fact, I remember there was a remark that I'd be the catcher if I didn't hit the size of my hat.

Rader is one of the toughest men in the majors to strike out. Indeed, his 22 whiffs in 462 at bats last year made him the second most difficult batter to fan in the National League. Tommy Helms was top man with only 21 strikeouts in 543 trips to the plate.

"I know I can hit," said Rader. "The fact that I lost 18 pounds last season had to affect my hitting. I came in at 180 last year. I weighed 162 when the season ended.

"This spring I came in at 174 and I hope to keep my weight around that figure to stay strong — yes, for 162 games if necessary."

Rader appeared in 148 games last season, virtually all of them as the starting and finishing catcher. He made four appearances as a pinch hitter and got three hits.

Rader declined to identify the front office executive who told him during contract negotiations that he might be traded and might wind up as a second string catcher on another club.

He didn't have to identify who told him early last season to concentrate on catching and not to worry about hitting. Charlie Fox told Rader that and the manager so informed reporters. How did Rader ultimately make out in his 1974 contract negotiations? He tried for $30,000 and got $27,500.

Norton, Foreman Work Out

CARACAS (UPI) — With their heavyweight championship bout just a week away, champion George Foreman and challenger Ken Norton resumed training today after taking yesterday off to go sightseeing.

Before going out to the Poliedro Stadium for training drills, the fighters were to undergo a physical examination at the National Sports Institute, a pre condition to their being granted licenses to fight in Venezuela.

"George is real loose," said foreman spokesman Bill Caplan. "The day off did him a world of good."

Foreman spent three hours driving around the city, walking among the crowd and shopping. Both in the old and new parts of the capital he was mobbed by sports-crazy Venezuelans. He seemed to enjoy the attention.

Foreman's purchases included Indian dresses, headbands and some gold coins.

Hapless Seals Call Up Coalter To Face Stars

The Californians have four road games left and are currently tied with the 1972-73 New York Islanders for a National Hockey League record: fewest road victories in a season. The Seals have won but twice on the road this year while dropping 33.

So far, the Seals have brought up 12 Salt Lake City players for some NHL action. Coalter is also scheduled to play in Los Angeles Thursday night.

Al Kaline, still active, is second on the all-time list with 2,861 at the end of the 1973 season, ahead of Charlie Gehringer with 2,839.

San Rafael Man Finishes Third In Fish Tourney

William W. Hoey of San Rafael finished third in the ninth annual Classic Billfish Tournament off the tip of Baja California in Mexico, according to official results announced yesterday.

Hoey, 43, owner of a commercial real estate firm, had the fastest catch in the tournament, 10 seconds, and also landed another fish. His 430 pounds made up the bulk of the total (530) scored by his team, the Juneau Anglers, which also took third.

T. Neal McNamara, 43, a San Rafael lawyer, had the fastest catch on the final day (21 minutes), but that was the only fish landed by him or his team, Red Top.

The tournament was held Feb. 23-March 1. Number of fish caught and speed of the catch counted in the scoring, but size did not. Fish were released after the catch.

6 WAYS TO USE LESS ENERGY HEATING YOUR HOME.

You can save fuel and help keep your home heating costs down by following these tips:

1. Set your furnace thermostat to a temperature of 68° or lower. Turn it down when you leave home or retire at night.
2. Examine and clean the heating system thoroughly each fall. Clean or replace dirty filters that make the furnace work harder to heat your home.
3. Keep all exterior doors—as well as those to garage, attic and basement—tightly closed. Lost heat is a waste of energy and money.
4. Proper home insulation and weatherstripping can cut heating costs up to 45%. Older homes often need new or additional insulation for adequate protection.
5. Open drapes on sunny days. Let the sun warm you naturally. Close drapes over large glass areas at other times; this can stop up to 16% of heat loss through windows.
6. Close damper when the fireplace is not in use so that the house heat can't escape up the flue.

Economy without cramps.

Buying a compact car with a six-cylinder engine can make room in your budget. If that compact car is an economical 1974 Chevy Nova 6, you'll also end up with a lot of room in your car. "Automotive Industries' Roominess Index" says no domestic compact at any price has more head and shoulder room, front and rear, than Nova. The roomy, economical Nova 6 comes in three versatile models, 2-door, 4-door and Hatchback. All in all, Nova makes a lot of sense right now.

The 2-Door. The Chevy Nova basic transportation system. Few cars make as much sense as this one. It's small enough on the outside to be easy to park and drive, yet has enough room on the inside for six passengers. The base price for this standard 2-door coupe (shown at left) is $2647.*

FISH AND GAME

Great Weather For Fishin'

Sunny days, no winds — perfect fishing weather. What's happening? Well, the salmon fishermen outside the Golden Gate have had much the best of it. Most of the Saturday and Sunday anglers had limits. You can't beat that. Nothing is better than a flat, calm, sunny day and everyone taking salmon home.

I talked to Rich Urbais at the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop about rock fishing. The Blue Horizon, the party boat working out of Rich's shop, had 46 anglers aboard Saturday. Each took his limit of 15 rockfish. The biggest fish taken was a 15-pound lingcod.

IF YOU HAVE never fished in your life, check in with Rich; he'll fix you up with all your gear and the trip, and an "almost" guarantee of a limit of rockfish. Nothing is ever slow rockfishing. You can take a camera along too, for some great pictures. Think about it: 46 people each with 15 fish. That's 690 fish landed in the one outing. Then there's that early dawn trip to the Farallones — it all makes for a day that you will always remember. Take the kids — they will enjoy every minute of it too.

Fishing for stripers in San Pablo Bay is still on the question mark side. If you're a pro, and you can get mudsuckers, your chances are good if you can anchor off China Camp and the school passes your boat. Some guys are getting fish — most aren't. The trolling still hasn't been producing. Ray Lenci, my fishing barometer, hasn't taken a fish trolling in eight trips. Ray is one of the top trollers of the area, so there you have it. But things should be starting any day now. The spawning perch are in, and when they spawn and the bass change their diet to the new born perch, then trolling gets good.

LARRY MAH AND his crew managed to take a 20-pound striper Sunday, drifing at The Brothers Islands; another angler took two 18-pounders between the two islands Saturday.

I called the Department of Fish and Game patrol boat Sunday by radio to ask about the fishing. The patrolers were checking the upper San Pablo Bay area. They checked lots of boats and the catches numbered just two stripers, with a fair number of flounders.

Tom Orovich of San Anselmo, using grass shrimp, took exactly 30. With flounders now at 89c a pound in the local markets, he did pretty good for himself.

The patrol boat crew also reported "no sturgeon" in its checks. Some of the boys around the bay were telling me their woes in that they hadn't caught a sturgeon in a month or so. All I could say was that they weren't alone — I haven't taken any in my last nine outings.

UP AT TOMALES Bay, the perch fishing off Inverness and Millerton Point has been exceptionally good. The other day, there were 40 fishermen reported at the Golden Hinde Boatel pulling in perch two at a time. The yellowtails ran up to three pounds. And you never know when a bass will grab the small hook baited for perch. This has happened a number of times — and most times, the light outfit is stripped of all the line.

Fishing for night fish up the coast around Jenner in Sonoma County has started to be successful. Using a triangle net and standing in the surf at 3 a.m. is fun, but the fisherman must be a rugged one. The fishermen wear waders and a rain jacket when dipping, but they say it's a ball. I ate 40 of those little fish the other evening — they have a flavor all their own.

WE PLANTED the yearling salmon this past week in Papermill Creek in Taylor Park. It was really a truckload! After getting the fish from the truck to the stream, I prepared to sign for the delivery as required. The number listed on all the forms was 40,001. Now where did they get that extra one fish?

The plant went good — lots of water in the creek this year. We saw no dead ones after the plant, so it's hoped these fish all get to sea in April.

I'VE HAD SOME questions about the new regulations regarding abalone irons. To simplify: The new rules say abalone irons should be almost straight, be at least three quarters of an inch wide, and be at least a sixteenth of an inch thick with all edges rounded. The new law on irons is to prevent the cutting or puncturing of undersized abalones.

the game's only run in the sixth when Jim Wohlford walked, stole second, and romped over on a single to center by Amos Otis, who is hitting .438 this spring.

Red Sox 8 White Sox 4

Rico Petrocelli, back after missing three games with pain in his right elbow which was operated on for calcium last August, socked two doubles and a single and Jim Rice hit a three-run homer to pace Boston.

Angels 6, Brewers 5

Dave May, who had 14 game-winning hits last season, nudged a short sacrifice fly to center in the ninth inning to score Bobby Sheldon from third with the winning run.

Cubs 4 Padres 2

Cub starter Bill Bonham suffered a sprained index finger that will cause him to miss his next turn when he was struck by a line drive by Fred Kendall in the fourth inning. Burt Hooton relieved and gave San Diego only two hits the rest of the way to win.

Pirates 5 Expos 3

Expos jumped to a 3-0 lead, including a two-run homer by Willie Davis off Dock Ellis in the first inning, but Ellis didn't allow another earned run through the seventh inning. Al Oliver drove in two Pirate runs with a homer and scored two. Game was the first of two the Pirates and Expos are playing in Puerto Rico for the Roberto Clemente sports city fund.

Indiana Coach Unhappy Winner

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Bobby Knight, the volatile coach of Indiana University, won the tournament he didn't want to play and left the fans booing at the St. Louis Arena last night.

Indiana finished as cochampion of the Big Ten with Michigan, but lost a playoff game that sent Michigan to the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional.

The Hoosiers were selected to play in the first commmissioner's basketball tournament, which drew seven second-place teams from seven other conferences, plus the co-champion Hoosiers.

At the end of the game Knight stepped forward to accept the championship trophy and said into the microphone, "I'd rather be playing in the NCAA tournament."

Knight told reporters after the game,"We came here because this was the only tournament we had a ticket to. I would hope that from now on teams would have the right to choose which post season tournament they want to play."

Knight saw his players win the tournament from a seat in the stands. He was ejected from the game with 8:29 left in the first half when he drew three rapid technical fouls for complaining too loudly that USC's Mike Westra had palmed the ball.

The Hoosiers trailed by five points when Knight walked slowly off the court but outscored the Trojans 15-5 over the next five minutes and began building the lead that eventually reached 27 points.

Warriors Try To Retain Slim NBA Lead

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors, playing without Nate Thurmond, try to retain their slim lead in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division tonight at 8 o'clock against the Milwaukee Bucks.

Thurmond is still unable to play because of an arch injury.

The two teams last met two weeks ago in Milwaukee and the Warriors won on a Rick Barry jump shot at the buzzer. It was the Warriors' third straight victory over the Bucks after a pair of season-opening losses.

With Thurmond out of the game, it's up to George Johnson to stop Milwaukee's fearsome Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Or at least slow him down a little.

Johnson doesn't think there will be a repeat of the Sunday afternoon nationally televised fracas between Abdul-Jabbar and Chicago Bulls center Dennis Awtry, when Awtry punched Abdul-Jabbar and was ejected from the game.

"I don't think Kareem's a physical player," Johnson said. "He's strong and he tries to get position on you. But he doesn't try to muscle you like some people.

"I think Awtry goes out there each game and tries to make Kareem mad, shoves and grabs, just to get him angry, throw him off his game. I'll just try to get position and play good defense."

The Warriors hold only a half-game edge over the Los Angeles Lakers in their tight race for the playoffs.

Any combination of Golden State victories and Los Angeles Lakers' losses totaling five will insure a tie for the Pacific Division championship. And if that happens the Warriors go to the playoffs, since they won the season series with the Lakers for the first time in seven years.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Now's The Time To Start Fund

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am finally in a financial position to start an investment program toward retirement 18 years from now. The way the stock market has been acting in the last year or so makes me wonder if I should wait. What is your opinion? — C.L.

A. With such a long-range goal in mind, I see no justification for postponing the initiation of an investment program. Looking back over the last 40 years, the market, as measured by the Dow-Jones Industrial Average, has moved from about 100 to 850. While the rise has been interrupted by bear markets of up to five or six-year duration, over any 18-year period the trend was significantly upward.

At the present time, there are several indications which point toward an improving market tone. The number of mutual funds sitting on sizable amounts of cash has risen sharply. The bond market has begun to give ground on growing disinterest from investors eyeing high-yield stocks. Corporations are buying in their own undervalued shares at an accelerating rate. Furthermore, the economic repercussions of the energy crisis now appear less awesome than originally feared, clearing much of the uncertainty which recently has hamstrung the market. With shares in many major American corporations selling only 8 times to 10 times earnings, the broad range of attractive investments is well worth pursuing.

Q. You recently recommended two government-backed Merchant Marine bonds. How do I go about purchasing these bonds? — R.G.

A. The procedure for buying bonds is a relatively simple one. First you will have to locate a brokerage firm; several of the major retail firms have offices in and around your area. Opening a brokerage account is much the same as opening a charge account at a store. Over and above the price of the bonds, which are trading somewhat above par value, you will have to pay any interest that has accrued since the previous semi-annual interest date. The broker's commission for completing the transaction will be $5 to $7.50 per bond, according to the size of the order.

Prices Drop As Stocks Fall Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices dropped sharply in the stock market today, extending the seemingly illogical decline that set in after the end of the Arab oil embargo was announced yesterday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slumped more than 7 points in the first hour today on top of yesterday's 13.61 loss, the worst in more than a month for the widely followed market indicator.

Declines swamped advances by about a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Since the end of the embargo appears to mean an improved fuel outlook for industry, cause-and-effect reasoning suggests the market should have greeted it with an enthusiastic rally.

Penney Sales Up

NEW YORK (BW) — J.C. Penney Co. Inc.'s sales rose 9.6 per cent in February, to a record $483.6 million from $441.3 million, an increase of $42.3 million. February marked the 131st straight monthly reporting period of sales gains.

THE MAKING OF MUSTANG II

Ford Motor Company prepares to add Mustang II production at its San Jose assembly plant this month. Craig Moe is pictured cycling a Mustang II quarter panel press welder in the passenger car body shop. Employment at the plant, which currently makes light trucks and the subcompact Pinto, has increased by 400 to start Mustang II. Another 1,200 will be hired for a second shift for Pinto and Mustang II scheduled for May 13. Ford is increasing its capacity to build small cars to two million a year in the 1975 model year —47 per cent more than at the start of the 1974 model year.

Marin Homes Prices Show Steady Growth

The average price of Marin homes sold through the Multiple Listing Service during 1973 was $51,545, up 46 per cent from the 1969 average of $35,405.

The 1973 prices were highest in Belvedere, followed by Ross, Tiburon, Kentfield and Sausalito. The same five communities had the highest priced homes five years ago, except that the order was slightly different.

San Rafael $50,816 ($35,445 in 1969), up 43 per cent.

Fairfax $39,560 ($25,435 in 1969), up 56 per cent.

Las Gallinas Aquatic Club To Be Swim, Recreation Facility

Las Gallinas Aquatic Club, just north of San Rafael, is being converted into a swim and recreation club.

To be called the Las Gallinas Swim & Recreation Club, it will be used for a variety of activities such as instructions in vegetarian cooking, aqua slimnastics classes, and swim lessons. In addition, annual family membership will be sold for use of the pools, barbecue area, clubhouse, and for games such as volleyball and water volleyball, shuffleboard, and possibly tennis.

Director and manager will be Mary H. Caverly, who founded Creative Leisure Services in San Rafael in 1972. She developed a program for creative use of leisure time by individuals and by industry, both management and employees.

Mrs. Caverly leased the Las Gallinas Aquatic Club facilities next to Las Gallinas Golf Course and Driving Range from Jane Collet, who is retiring after running the swim club for 18 years.

Mrs. Caverly plans to use the swim and recreation facility to expand her creative leisure services. Courses in vegetarian cooking will start in April, with instructions in American, Italian, Chinese, Japanese, and Indonesian cooking. Swim programs will start in mid-May.

Y. TITO SASAKI of San Rafael, chief of planning and research for the Golden Gate Bridge District, plans to head a new planning and engineering consulting firm in San Francisco sometime after the end of this month, when he leaves the bridge district. The new corporation will be called Visio International Inc., but its headquarters location has not been decided as yet.

Sasaki has been with the bridge district for four and one-half years, and before that, as engineer for the Marin County Transit District, he prepared the plan for the Golden Gate Transit bus system that is now in operation.

JOHN R. ADAMS of Mill Valley, director of development for Saint Francis Memorial Hospital in San Francisco, has been elected president of the Development Executives Round Table. The 70-member organization, founded in 1964 in San Francisco, is comprised of development officers and fund-raising specialists for hospitals, social agencies, educational and cultural groups throughout Northern California.

FLEISHMAN'S INTERIORS at 239 Third Street in the Montecito Shopping Center, San Rafael, will be sold by the end of this month to Harry and Bernice S. Brown of Ignacio, who will retain the same store name and services. Brown has been in the furniture and interior decoration business since 1948, mostly in the San Diego area.

Fred and Eleanor Fleishman of San Rafael first opened their shop in Novato in 1955, moved it to Fourth Street in San Rafael in 1960, then to Northgate Shopping Center and to Montecito Shopping Center five years ago. Fleishman's Interiors provides full service, from sale of fabric to installation.

NOVATO REALTORS — Nominations and election will be held for co-chairman at tomorrow's breakfast meeting of the Novato Realtors Group at 8:30 a.m. at Sambo's restaurant, Novato.

A co-chairman is elected to serve with the chairman and provide a rotation in the chairmanship every three months.

A TURNAWAY CROWD of more than 1,500 persons jammed the Scoreboard Restaurant and cocktail lounge at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael, during Sunday's St. Patrick's Day celebration.

A green carpet extending into the sidewalk welcomed the crowds, which kept streaming in from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.

A-ALLEN TERMITE & Pest Control Co. held its grand opening last week at 33-E Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park, Ignacio.

Founder of the business is Mrs. Amy Allen of Novato, mother of four, who was secretary to the fashion editor of a Los Angeles daily until 1961, when she moved to Marin. Mrs. Allen worked for a termite company for about two years before opening her own business. Associated with her company are contractors E. E. Bridges of Novato and R. L. Ashford of Contra Costa, who plans to move to Marin.

ELIOT WILSON of San Rafael, who deals in electrical advertising (plastic outdoor signs), has moved his headquarters from Oakland to his home in the Lomita Park area of San Rafael.

An employee of Federal Sign and Signal Corporation for the past three years, Wilson had been working out of the Oakland office. From his new headquarters in San Rafael, Wilson covers the area from Marin to Ukiah. He has been in the electrical advertising field ever since he graduated from San Francisco State University five years ago.

SCOTT-McCALL & Co. Realtors announced the appointment of Brian Paris of Larkspur as project manager at Marina Vista condominiums, which have opened for sale in Sausalito. The condominiums, located on Lincoln Drive, east of Waldo Grade, sell for $57,000 and up. They come in two and three bedroom models, with a choice of color schemes.

Scott-McCall & Co. is the sales agent.

PACIFIC COAST Title Company's new Northgate office at 4340 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, is managed by Michael A. Powers of Marinwood, who was escrow officer and assistant vice president until the promotion.

Roy L. Walling, executive vice president, announced the appointment last week. Powers has been with Pacific Coast Title for about four years. Pacific Coast Title has its main office at 900 Mission Avenue in San Rafael and another branch office on Camino Alto in Mill Valley.

McCarthy Co. Earnings Drop

The McCarthy Co. of Anaheim, with its Northern California headquarters in San Rafael, announced a drop in earnings during 1973.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1973, McCarthy earned $520,000 equal to 38 cents per share, as compared with 1972 earnings of $806,000, or 59 cents per share.

Garage Door Opener/Closer

Just a single push of a transmitter button conveniently located in your car activates a 1/3 HP motor (our most powerful), opening your garage door and turning on the lights. Another push closes and electronically locks the door. The built-in security switch lets you turn off radio controls during prolonged absence. Safety reverse system automatically reverses door if obstructed, either direction.

Do-It-Yourself or ask about Sears Authorized Installation. Available at extra cost, under contractor license #25455.
